

CONSTANTLY the mystic attitude of the East clashes with the scientific attitude of the West. Both are a reflection of the most characteristic human instinct—the impulse to find out “why.” To the animal, a fact is just a fact. It may be a delightful fact, like food or a mate; or a fearful fact, like an enemy; or an indifferent fact, like most things; but why, it asks no “why.” It is the same with most of us, as to most things. But because we are partly human, we ask “why” about part of the things part of the time. Our human classification depends on which sort of “why.”

The Occidental is scientific. He knows the reason for some things and he assumes that there is a reason for the others. He seeks that reason with his eyes and thought, and, if he has not yet found it will be rational, orderly and impersonal.

The Oriental is mystic. He uses his imagination on the wonders of the world, and erects authors for events. If happening and explanation fill out a harmonious picture, his imagination is satisfied, and the critical faculty is not aroused to demand evidence. He reads horoscopes, cures his ills by similitudes, and sees in a comet the portent of human evil.

He sees the forces around him in the imagery of personality, and pictures them as friendly or hostile to himself. To the Occidental they are impersonal laws, and laws, but not purposes; being neither good nor bad, hostile or friendly.

This is the spiritual contrast of the East and the West. But how many of your neighbors, wearing Occidental clothes, living in Occidental houses, speaking European tongues, cherish Oriental minds?

FOREIGN SECRETARY CHAMBERLAIN told the British Parliament that the British secret service had indisputable evidence that “another government”—meaning, of course, Russia—was fostering the Chinese troubles.

Secretary Kellogg had the same evidence, and similarly wanted to make it public. But he did not go into Congress and tell what he knew. Our system does not admit anything so simple and direct. Instead, an anonymous article appeared in the newspapers which every experienced reader knew was inspired, but which made no direct statement to that effect.

There was nobody to question to criticize it, and nobody was formally responsible for it. It is there not something to be said in favor of the British way—which is also the way of practically every other free government in the world, except our own?

BOLSHEVİK-BAITING has become so common a hysteria that the temptation is to discount it. But when the heads of the two most cautious and responsible governments in the world officially or semi-officially declare, under the responsibility of world-wide publicity, that they have evidence that Russia is behind the present troubles in China, and when the American government inspires a suggestion that Japan is counterplotting in the same field, it means that this evidence exists, and that either it does establish these facts or these two governments have been duped.

Either some one has forged documents so successfully as to deceive the experts of the British and American secret services, or else this mischief is being done, in China, by influences from outside of China which bode no good to the stability of China or the peace of the world. Such statements ought to be authorized unless they are absolutely known to be true. If they are true, they are a challenge to the peace-loving powers of the world.

CAN the sea be made “dry”? Apparently not, on some ships. But between American ports it is evidently possible. At least, it has happened on the Marlin between San Francisco and Honolulu so far as can be observed, there is not a drink aboard. Of course, nothing is served at the bar, but on a “dry” Atlantic steamer that is not necessary. Your friends have plenty in their cabins.

The Atlantic vessels, to be sure, touch at a “wet” port, but these one plies between two dry ports. But there is plenty of bad bootleg gin in San Francisco, and worse bootleg “olekole” in Honolulu. The point is, not merely that nobody brings it aboard, but that it has not been mentioned. It is taken for granted. We are at the beginning of our readjustment to the new era.

900 TROOPS WILL BE SENT TO BORDER

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The war department today ordered army authorities in New York City and the second corps area to recruit immediately 900 men for service on the Mexican border.

This move was without significance, according to war department officials, who explained that it was merely an economy measure.

They said army transports were sailing for Porto Rico and Panama from New York, August 6, and could carry almost 1000 men to Galveston, thus saving future rail transportation for such troops from New York.

JUDGE RULES FOR OPENING SUPPLICATION

Darrow Creates New Sensation at Start of Third Day of Evolution Trial

Chicago Attorney Objects To Tennessee Courtroom Becoming Meetinghouse

COURT ROOM, DAYTON, Tenn., July 14.—Judge John T. Raulston announced at 3:50 p. m. today that, because a certain news agency sent out a story today purporting to give his action on the defense's motion to quash the indictment against John T. Scopes, he would not deliver it today, but deliver it when court opens tomorrow. Raulston announced that, if he discovered that the news agency in question obtained its alleged information by any corrupt or improper means, he would deal with the guilty representatives for contempt of court. He thereupon adjourned court until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

(By United Press)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 14.—With the heat and humidity of the packed courtroom augmented by a bitter dispute at the very outset, the Scopes trial today entered its third session amidst a flurry of argument.

Clarence Darrow, defense counsel, whose thunderous speech on behalf of evolution and against “religious bigotry” created a sensation Monday, was again the storm center today.

Darrow objected again to opening the sessions with prayer. He made the objection a formal one, and it was overruled by Judge Raulston, who said that prayer at the opening of a court session was not unreasonable.

“I don't object to praying in secret, but I do object to turning this court into a meetinghouse,” exclaimed the famous Chicago lawyer.

Argument ensued, with all counsel participating and the entire courtroom was standing, as requested by the judge.

“We are dealing with a conflict between science and religion,” said Darrow, insisting that the daily invocation was propaganda for the prosecution.

Attorney General Stewart argued in favor of the judge.

“The objection by agnostic counsel for the defense,” said Attorney General Stewart. He was interrupted by Malone.

“As one of the members of the counsel,” said Malone, “who is not an agnostic, I object to the attorney general's reference. But I would like to ask your honor if it has been your custom to have clergymen present each morning.”

“The prayers with which this trial has been opened since it began have been largely arguments, and only increased the atmosphere of hostility in this community, already rendered hostile by widespread propaganda.”

“This is a God-fearing country, and the atmosphere was here when you came,” answered Stewart.

Malone Has Reply.

“I would have the attorney general know that the part of the country I come from is just as God-fearing as his,” Malone blazed back.

Judge Raulston made a brief statement, declaring the matter was one for his discretion alone; that he believed in prayer, and:

HOOVER LAYS BLAME IN COLORADO DEVELOPMENT TO CALIFORNIA SOLONS

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Blame for delay in Colorado river development was laid at the door of the California legislature today by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover.

“Failure of the California legislature to ratify the compact with the northern states with respect to water rights in the Colorado river will most probably delay the obtaining of any authorization from congress, and consequently development of the many projects dependent on the river,” Hoover said.

“It is my understanding the northern states wholly reject the California proposition and

DARROW, IN OUTSTANDING SPEECH OF CAREER, HITS OPPONENTS OF EVOLUTION

(By United Press)

DAYTON, Tenn., July 14.—Tennessee, for all its fundamentalism, admires a fighter, and the dramatic, thundering speech of Clarence Darrow, at the resumption of the Scopes' trial, declared by the lawyer's friends to be the greatest of his career, today has won the doctory old Chicago attorney the respect, if not the approval of Dayton.

Thumbs in his suspenders, now dropping his voice to a whisper, now raising it to a thunderous pitch, Darrow hurled a challenge and a warning to opposition and spectators Monday, when the trial of John T. Scopes for teaching evolution was resumed.

The attorney for the defense, championing evolution, declared the move to prevent the teaching of science in the public schools of the state was but the opening wedge in a bigoted, brazen attempt to destroy liberty, which would reach to other states, other schools, to the pulpit and into the home.

The courtroom sat amazed, some of the spectators awed by Darrow's daring, half expecting to see him punished on the spot for defying their beliefs, others carried away by the moving eloquence of the speaker.

William Jennings Bryan sat grimly, arms folded, apparently impervious to the shafts of Darrow's wit, the broad strokes of humor, the sudden outbreak of rage as the defense lawyer warmed to his subject. Other counsel for the prosecution joined in the occasional applause which swept the courtroom.

“This is as brazen, as bold an attempt to destroy liberty as ever was seen in the middle ages,” shouted Darrow, referring to the indictment against Scopes, which he moved to be dismissed.

“Not a single line of any constitution can withstand bigotry and ignorance when it seeks to destroy the rights of the individual.”

Darrow warned his hearers early in the speech that he knew what he had to say would displease them, and that he was not afraid of the consequences.

“One thing I never could account for,” he said, “is the venom and hatred of people with very strong religious convictions.”

The purpose for which Darrow came here actually has been fulfilled. He has sounded what he regards as a necessary alarm to the American people to rise against “bigotry and intolerance,” and if the Scopes' trial ended today he would be content.

When Darrow concluded, he stepped down from the platform and was met by Mrs. Darrow.

“Clarence,” she said, “don't you think you'd better put on another shirt?” his elbow was out at a tear in a sleeve.

“Well, Ruby,” smiled Darrow, “don't you think it's too hot today for two shirts?”

Along his walk from the courthouse to the hotel he was stopped by natives who had never met him, but who heard him in the courtroom a few minutes before. They all said the same thing: “A wonderful speech.”

But women, leaving the courtroom, looked at each other in horror.

“The damned infidel,” exclaimed one.

SOUTHLAND'S THUNDERSTORM GIVEN HALF OF SWEEPS SANTA U. S. ROAD AID ANA IN NIGHT

(By United Press)

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Federal highway aid bonds apportioned to California, amounting to $4,900,000, will be divided equally between the northern and southern sections of the state.

A decision to divide the amount equally was reached after a lengthy conference between Gov. Friend W. Richardson and members of the state highway commission here. It is the first time that the 13 counties of Southern California have received an equal share of road appropriations with the 45 northern counties.

Two contracts were awarded by the commission at the session for Southern California highway improvement. They were:

San Diego county, widening and thickening 13.1 miles of pavement between Oceanside and the northern boundary of San Diego county. Awarded to John and Bressi, Los Angeles, on a bid of $322,737.

Imperial county, grading and rock-surfacing 8.6 miles of the Yuma interstate connection between El Centro and Holtville. Awarded to S. Y. Parrett, Los Angeles, on a bid of $107,229.15.

SHENANDOAH ON FLIGHT LAKESHURST, N. J., July 14.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah left the naval air station here at 9:10 a. m., headed for Newport, R. I.

Heat Will Continue

Forecasts from the weather bureau, in Los Angeles, indicate the heat of the last 24 hours will continue indefinitely. It was warm and sultry throughout the Southland, and the high temperatures and low humidity were slated to continue for at least 48 hours longer.

Fire warnings were broadcast by forestry officials, with gentle northerly winds increasing the hazard.

Temperatures reported from various Southland points were: Pasadena, 99; Pomona, 98; Los Angeles, 89; Redlands, 103; Riverside, 105; San Bernardino, 105; Santa Barbara, 100; Santa Ana, 90.

Needles was the hottest spot on the weather map, with a temperature of 124 degrees.

CHAIR MAKERS FINED

CHICAGO, July 14.—Three chair manufacturing companies and one individual today pleaded guilty in federal court here to violation of the Sherman anti-trust act and were fined a total of $9000 by Judge Adam C. Cliffe.

The fines today brought the total fines required by the government since it opened its drive on the “furniture trust” to $431,000.

BOARD HINTS REVISION

General Depression in Agricultural Industry Will Be Given Consideration

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The petition of 74 western railroads for an immediate increase in rates will be taken up at the opening of general revision hearings in Chicago, September 1, the interstate commerce commission announced today.

The commission declined to take up the petition “immediately,” as the roads had requested.

The Chicago hearing will open the commission's investigation into the general rate structure, as provided by the Smith-Hoch resolution adopted by the last congress.

In its decision, the commission stated that the petition of the 74 western roads and the question of general revision were so closely related that they should be considered simultaneously.

The commission pointed out that, in accordance with the congressional resolution, the new hearings will “in view of the depression in agriculture, effect with the least practicable delay, such lawful changes in the rate structure of the country as will permit the freedom of movement by common carriers of products of agriculture affected by the depression, including livestock, at the lowest possible lawful rates compatible with maintenance of an adequate transportation service.”

Leaps from Ninth Floor to Death

SEATTLE, Wash., July 14.—John H. Ejection of Jap Workers Stirs Tokio

(By United Press)

TOKIO, July 14.—The foreign office is investigating reports from Toledo, Ore., that a mob ejected 15 Japanese laborers of the Pacific Spruce corporation from the county. The newspapers feature the dispatch, which has aroused widespread indignation.

GOVERNOR ADMITS SITUATION SERIOUS

SALEM, Ore., July 14.—Except to admit that the situation is “serious,” Gov. Walter M. Pierce so far has refused to comment on the affair at Toledo, Ore., where a score of Japanese mill workers were forced out of town Sunday.

Some action was looked for from the governor's office today. Citizens of Toledo appeared before him and complained about the importation of Japanese labor in that city by the Pacific Spruce corporation.

They showed that Japanese labor was paid $2.40 a day, while white labor ran from $3.60 to $4 for the same type of work.

Governor Pierce sent William A. Delzell, his private secretary, and C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, to Toledo to investigate the case, and he expected to conclude a conference with them today.

JAPANESE CONSUL IN PORTLAND PROBES

PORTLAND, Ore., July 14.—The local Japanese consulate is investigating the Toledo Mob action Sunday, which resulted in 20 Japanese employees of the Pacific Spruce corporation being run out of town. A statement was available from the consul. A number of Japanese affected by the trouble are here to confer at the consulate.

STANDARD REDUCES HOURS OF LABOR

NEW YORK, July 14.—A 12-hour day, which has been in effect in industries controlled by Standard Oil since the first well in the United States was drilled, 66 years ago will go out of existence tomorrow to be replaced by an eight-hour day and a higher wage scale. Hundreds of new men will be hired. Workers will receive only $2 less for the eight-hour day than heretofore for the 12-hour day.

TEXAS COUNSPUNCHERS AND RANGERS ADDED TO THE EXCITEMENT BY “SHOOTING UP” THE TOWN. THEY SWOOPED INTO PORTLAND IN SOMBRERO HEADGEAR AND CHAPS, AND SOON FOUND THE ELKS TEMPLE HAD A GOOD FREE BAR AND LUNCH. ALTHOUGH THE DRINKS WERE SOFT, THE PLACE LOOKED LIKE A FRONTIER SALOON, WITH THE COWBOYS AND ALL.

Policeman Boosts L. A. With Pistol

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—Being a booster in one's own community is commendable, but backing up one's civic pride with a six-shooter is stretching one's loyalty too far.

Patrolman J. N. Ketting was fined $100 by the police commission today for his effluvia and militant press-agency. The officer indulged in an argument with two citizens from San Francisco over their respective cities.

The argument waxed so hot that Ketting, it is charged, slipped his hand into his hip pocket and came up with a six-shooter to win the debate.

Ketting also was intoxicated, it was alleged.

Fight With Knives For Love of Girl

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—Tony Pietante and Angelo Sidelone, fishermen, fought with knives here today for the love of Norma Patterson, 22, while she looked on, and all three landed in jail.

The girl had been distributing her favors between them for some time, the men told police. Today she told Angelo he would have to get her clothes from Tony if he wanted her to go out with him tonight, and the fight started.

The girl was charged as a vagrant and the men with assault with a deadly weapon.

EVIDENCE OF STRUGGLE IN COUPE FOUND

Theory of Murder or Abduction Given in Connection with Disappearance

WOODS FEUD HEROINE

Mystery Surrounds Discovery of Woman's Abandoned Car in Co. Park

FEARS THAT Mrs. Virginia Lee Cookson, comely farmette of the Forest of Arden, near Modjeska's home, has been murdered or abducted are felt, following discovery of the woman's coupe, bearing marks of a struggle, just inside Orange County park, early today.

Mrs. Cookson left the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clement, 545 South Grand avenue, Orange, shortly after midnight, after having spent the evening with them. That was the last information concerning her movements that could be had up to late today.

Preparations were being made early this afternoon to drag the lake in the park after tracks of a man's shoes had been discovered leading from the abandoned coupe.

Strength to a theory that Mrs. Cookson was the victim of a fiend who waylaid her, dragged her from the car and then murdered her, was lent by a report this afternoon by Charles Kelley, Santa Ana druggist, that he saw a car late last night waiting by the roadside near the spot where the woman's machine was found this morning by Deputy Sheriff H. G. McKague.

Mrs. Cookson, inquiries have elicited, had been the recipient of unwelcome attentions for some time recently. She told friends that she had been annoyed and molested, and had written to a sister in Los Angeles asking her to come and stay with her in her car.

The coupe was found with two wheels off the pavement, at a point where the road through the park branches off the main road up Santiago canyon. The keys were in the car, indicating that Mrs. Cookson did not leave the car of her own volition.

Hat and Hair Found

A crumpled hat and some wisps of hair, evidently torn from her scalp in a struggle, were found in the machine. Close by were her shoes, both buttoned. These apparently were pulled from her feet while Mrs. Cookson was endeavoring to break away from her captors.

That robbery was not the motive of her assailant or assailants, was evident from the fact that Mrs. Cookson's handbag, containing a purse, and a small sum in cash, a check book, handkerchief and toilet accessories, had been left in the car.

Several strands of hair were found on the door handle. One of the missing woman's shoes was found jammed on the brake handle, apparently caught there in the struggle to drag her out of the car.

Although reluctant to express any definite theory until investigations have proceeded further, Sheriff Sam Jernigan late this morning expressed belief that Mrs. Cookson has been the victim of foul play. As to whether she has been slain or abducted, he did not give an opinion.

Deputies of the sheriff's office,

TO be dainty every minute of every day! . . . every woman wishes it. And — at times, doubts it.

Now the old-time sanitary pad has been supplanted. There is a new way that is safe and scientific.

It ends the annoyances of old ways. You live now every day of your life, unhandicapped.

It is called KOTEX, a new kind of material, a new form.

It absorbs 16 times its own weight in moisture—5 times that of the ordinary cotton pad! It is as easily disposed of as a piece of tissue—ending the old embarrassment of disposal.

It is odorized. And that prevents danger of offense.

It's at every drug store, every department store. You ask for it without hesitancy under its trade name of "Kotex."

8 in 10 women of the better classes have adopted it. Hygienic authorities employ it.

For your health's sake, for peace of mind, try it. It will make a great difference in your life.

SEEK FUNDS TO REBUILD OUAKE TORN MISSION

SANTA BARBARA, July 14.—"Our beloved mission, an historic monument dear to the hearts of Americans of all creeds, is so badly damaged by earthquake as to need almost complete rebuilding," reads an announcement made today by Father Augustine, O. F. M., of the Santa Barbara mission.

"The services of God, which have never been interrupted for a day since the mission was established by Father Junipero Serra, in 1786, are now held in our gardens, where many of the fathers, whose quarters have been destroyed, are compelled to sleep. We hope to rebuild the mission of the same ancient materials—tiles, bricks and beams—that were made by the Indians and the first fathers in California. Also we hope to see it built so strongly as to be proof against earthquake and time. The cost of this plan, I am told, will exceed a half million dollars. This seems a large sum until I read of the millions that Americans spend for amusements every day.

"But we do not wish to raise this money by modern high pressure methods. We simply ask for sums of money from those who sincerely desire to see the mission restored in its original beauty. The fathers will appreciate the 'widow's mite' as much as the millionaire's check. All gifts are equally blessed in this great work.

"If you wish, you may send donations made out to the 'Old Mission Restoration fund.' All such donations will be acknowledged in writing by the fathers."

Miss Gladys Crawford of Topeka, Kans., is a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Allie Ash, 437 South Sycamore street.

DAILY BEAUTY BILL. CHICAGO—Women of the United States are spending $50,000,000 daily for beautifying purposes, says Emily Lloyd, head of the National School of Cosmeticians.

LIGHTNING RUINS LARGE PALM TREE

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—A terrific bolt of lightning which struck and ignited a large palm tree in front of the Joseph C. Farrel summer home here early this morning brought out practically the entire community in various night attire.

The fire was extinguished by a bucket brigade, formed by a group of girls, consisting of the Misses Sarah and Josephine Farrel and Mrs. Gertrude Gerish, a guest, and several neighbors.

Old-timers say that today is the first time that lightning has ever struck in Laguna Beach. Outside of the ruined tree, no damage was done during the unusual storm.

Mistakes Man for Groundhog; Shoots

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., July 14.—Because the top of his cap resembled the color of a groundhog, Alger Reed was shot and killed by Lem McBride, 77, on a farm near here. It was Reed's 22d birthday anniversary. He had gone to the farm to hunt groundhogs. McBride was on the same mission, unmindful of the presence of Reed. McBride was exonerated by officials.

Many people have a lot of good in them, but unfortunately they keep it there.

DISEASE GOES

When You Learn Health's Secret

NEW HEALTH MESSAGE BRINGS HOPE TO THOUSANDS

A simple truth has won back health for people who have never drawn a well breath in years. Learning just one fact has banished sickness in hundreds of cases where thousands of dollars and months or years of time spent, brought no relief; has put people on their feet who were bed-ridden for years; has freed them from suffering and pain and made them again know the happiness of perfect health and robust body.

This simple truth a special lecturer from the Moorite Laboratories has come to tell you. No matter what you suffer from, how long you have been sick, how weak and rundown you may be, how hopeless your case may seem;—no matter what name the doctors have given your trouble come and hear this simple truth—it will cost you nothing and it may be your salvation.

Scientists tell us that our bodies can be reduced to about twenty basic chemical elements. These elements vary in quantity, of course. For instance, there is only a trace of Iodine and Silicon, but over 31 pounds of Carbon in the average 150 lb. man.

Your stomach with the help of other organs serves as a laboratory which extracts these chemicals from the foods you eat. When these elements are present in your body in their correct proportion you are healthy, but when thru some cause or other your body is not supplied with enough of one or more of these life-giving chemicals in its correct proportion, then trouble commences. You become weak or run-down—perhaps the germs which your weak body was able to fight and throw off get a foothold. Then, certain symptoms develop and the doctors say you have this disease or that disease.

The Moorite Laboratory has demonstrated to hundreds of people that almost all diseases spring from the same cause—lack of one or more of the twenty basic chemical elements. Replace the needed element in your body and quick recovery of health and strength will frequently follow.

FIFTEEN MINUTES TALK WITH

MOORITE

LECTURER MAY SHOW YOU THE WAY TO GLORIOUS HEALTH

Moorite contains many of the most precious of life-giving chemicals—but that is not all. Experiments covering years of time and proved by hundreds of cases show that Moorite thru a remarkable action stimulates the stomach and other organs to extract the deficient elements from the food one eats so that soon after you start taking Moorite your body regains its correct chemical adjustments, and stubborn sickness vanishes and the body recovers its old health and strength.

The above seems so incredible that we can understand that at first it will seem almost impossible to you—but remember, it will cost you nothing to investigate. We want you to come and hear all of the facts from our special lecturers. We want him to tell you of the marvelous cures effected by the use of Moorite. We want him to show you his hundreds of testimonials from people whose lives have been saved by the use of Moorite. Then he will say to you, this: "We are so sure of what Moorite will do in vanishing disease and restoring health that we will take all the chance. Try Moorite in accordance with the directions that accompany each package on our absolute guarantee that if it does not help you your money will be refunded."

Special Lecturer from Moorite Laboratories in Attendance for a Few Days Only

A Special Lecturer from the Moorite Company will explain how Moorite has brought glorious health to hundreds of sufferers from stomach and kidney troubles, blood impurities and other ailments.

GUARANTEE—If you are not satisfied with the results, we will gladly refund every cent you pay for it—you to be the judge.

"I was Relieved of Stomach Trouble After 20 Years of Suffering"

"I suffered for 20 years from stomach trouble during which I doctored constantly," said N. P. Hansen, 6008 So. Asotin St., Tacoma, Wash. "A friend told me of this great remedy and how it was guaranteed to relieve stomach trouble, but I was not convinced. I had tried so many treatments and found them all unavailing that I became discouraged and disheartened. When I learned that Moorite was an acknowledged stomach remedy I decided to give it a trial.

"That was 18 months ago and it seems like a dream to me that I have been so well and strong since. Despite the fact that I am 60 years of age I am proud of the fact that I am able to do a hard day's work."

"Seven Years of Pain," Says H. P. Creager

H. P. Creager, 3819 North 9th Street, Tacoma, Wash., 56 years of age, and an engineer employed by the Puget Sound National Bank, states that he was a sufferer of a very serious case of stomach trouble and rheumatism for seven years. He was worn out and in such poor health that work was a burden to him and he was forced to spend much of his time in bed. On the advice of friends Mr. Creager tried Moorite and stomach trouble and rheumatism vanished and he is now robust and in perfect health and never misses a day's work.

"Boils All Over Body Removed," Says F. L. Cox

F. L. Cox, 1440 East 30th Street, Tacoma, states: "I am thankful to Moorite for restoring me to health if not actually saving my life. Without it I was destined to continue in ill health, a discouraging view of life and despair. Now I am feeling fit and fine and can thank Moorite for what it has done.

"I am 46 years of age and my stomach had bothered me so badly for five years that I could not sleep well and could not enjoy my meals. Every time I ate anything I was distressed. I had boils all over my face and body and I was so sore that I felt uncomfortable all the time.

"I feel so grateful for what Moorite has done for me that I willingly give Moorite Products Company full permission to publish this letter, together with my photograph."

"Unconscious for 2 Days," Says Mrs. R. C. Judy

Mrs. R. C. Judy, 3214 Nassau Street, Everett, Washington, states: "My case was diagnosed by my doctor as nervous prostration. I was threatened with nervous paralysis. I had kidney trouble. I was just a nervous wreck. I got so bad I was confined to my bed, and suffered terribly. I learned of Moorite and immediately began its use with astonishing results. I can honestly say to anyone suffering from nervousness that Moorite is worthy of a thorough trial. I owe my health today to Moorite."

A WORD OF COMFORT

As long as you can remember you have yearned for release from unrest and discontent; no experience approached perfection or comfortly satisfied you. Your heartache and grief have opened your eyes to what you really craved. Amid your hours of sadness you have found Him. His touch with your life gives new significance to every experience. Now your joys and your sorrows have a meaning and a purpose which point toward the tomorrow of realization. Your heart has found the peace so longed for.

For Your Convenience 365 Days In the Year

The wheels of the Big Red Interurban Cars practically never stop turning.

Constantly clicking over the rails, 979 large, comfortable coaches carry 115,000-1,000 passengers annually over 1139 miles of track.

This is Pacific Electric Service—365 days in the year.

Always there, always ready to take you to mountain tops, to beaches, to any one of 54 incorporated cities within 70 miles of Los Angeles, and thousands of other points along the way.

Live in the country, work in town—the Pacific Electric makes it possible.

The Pacific Electric motormen drive you back and forth. You read, relax and rest—no nerve strain, no extra exertion.

And this transportation, if you use commutation tickets, costs you merely a trifle more than 1c per mile!

Think what the Pacific Electric has meant to the development of Southern California.

Use it for your business trips and learn what it means to you.

Two Are Injured As Car Is Ditched

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Ritchey, owners of a farm near here, narrowly escaped death last night when their light car was struck by a Green Crown stage and overturned into a ditch. Ritchey received a number of bruises and an injured thumb. His wife suffered an injured hip and a few bruises.

The fact that Ritchey, who weighs 250 pounds, was able to keep most of the car's weight from Mrs. Ritchey, is believed to be the reason she was not seriously injured.

According to reports, the driver of the stage did not see Ritchey's signal to turn off the Canyon road, where the accident occurred.

NEW MONTHLY PUBLICATION

With Former Santa Ana
At Head of Its Editorial Staff

The whole southwest is the field of usefulness for Modern Irrigation, the new monthly magazine, the initial number of which has just been issued. Modern Irrigation, as its name would imply, makes special appeal to all who are interested in the great work which has already made Southern California so prosperous, viz: the bringing together of arable land and water.

Modern Irrigation is a 60-page magazine, finely illustrated, and printed on high grade paper. The same company which publishes the Petroleum World publishes Modern Irrigation, but the last named has a staff of writers expert in their line.

What would seem to be a most commendable feature in the new magazine, is a board of advisors, whose knowledge of the subjects, and interest to be treated by the publication cannot fail to be of great value. This advising board consists of more than 30 men, all so prominent in their several lines of usefulness as to deserve the name of specialists.

This list includes men such as C. C. Teague, and A. C. Hardison, representing agriculture. Arthur P. Davis and W. P. McQuar, representing engineering. George C. Pardee and Francis Cuttle, representing Conservation, and many others, as well known along various lines.

Of local interest is the fact that Douglas G. McPhee, a former student of Santa Ana high school, and who also was born in this city, is the executive editor.

Italy and Japan are the countries in which most earthquakes occur.

NEWPORT BEACH ICE ORDINANCE FOUND INVALID

Newport Beach's city ordinance, which levies a special and higher license fee upon outside ice dealers than is required of local dealers, was "knocked out" today by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams, who declared it discriminatory and therefore unconstitutional.

The ruling was made in granting a writ of habeas corpus to C. L. Hazard, Huntington Beach ice dealer, who pleaded guilty to violation of the ordinance and went to jail, rather than pay a $25 fine, in order that he might test the ordinance. Hazard pleaded guilty in Recorder Andrew Wilson's court at Newport Beach yesterday.

The ordinance specifies payment of $150 as a license to deliver ice not manufactured in the city. This is in contrast to the nominal license charged local dealers.

Attorney O. A. Jacobs, Santa Ana defended the ordinance as representative of City Attorney Clyde Bishop. Attorney Roland Thompson appeared for Hazard.

Police News

Judge J. F. Talbott late yesterday imposed a fine of $50 on A. G. Anderson, 41, lineman, of Upland, when he appeared on a charge of having intoxicating liquor in his possession. Anderson paid.

F. W. Wiesseman, of Santa Ana, was assessed a $2 fine in police court for parking overtime in the downtown district.

C. C. Kavanaugh, 231 South Center street, Orange, yesterday reported to the sheriff's office that the truck he was driving collided with an automobile, name of owner not given, at the corner of Main and Seventeenth streets. None was hurt.

William Hurley, 46, painter, of Brea, was booked at the county jail last night on a statutory charge. He was arrested for the Los Angeles county authorities.

Charles L. Hazard, 22, iceman, of Newport Beach, was arrested yesterday on a misdemeanor charge and lodged in the county jail.

Theft of a truck owned by the Irvine ranch from in front of Parsons' drug store, corner Bush and Fourth streets, yesterday morning, was reported to the sheriff's office by J. Cogan. On the truck were several boxes containing electrical equipment, a package of outgoing mail and a parcel of laundry.

120 ENROLLED IN S. A. BIBLE CLASS

The daily vacation Bible school in the United Brethren church, Third and Shelton streets, opened its second week Monday morning, with an attendance of 120 students. The pastor, the Rev. L. Harter, is principal of the school, instructor in Bible lands and customs, and leads in the boys' craft with the assistance of Irving Noble.

The school is conducted in two departments, junior and primary. In the junior department, Mrs. Nora Randall, an experienced public school teacher, tells the Bible stories. The scripture memory work is led by Mrs. O. M. Harrison and Mrs. J. H. Noble, and girls' handwork, by Mrs. Hervey, assisted by Mesdames Harrison, Colby and Wonder.

Mrs. Perry Gammell, assisted by Mesdames Catherine Lacy, Elise Harter and Mesdames Lacy, Clark and Denny, is in charge of the primary department.

The final session of the school will be held Friday night, beginning at 7:30, when parents and friends of the community are invited to hear the children recite a portion of their daily work and to see what has been gained during the school period.

Once Rich Mine Sold for Taxes

REDDING, Calif., July 14.—The Midas mine and adjoining claims at Harrison Gulch, or Knob, all the property of the Victor Power and Mining company, were sold recently for taxes to the state for $12,320.44. A few years ago the Midas was one of the very best paying mines in Shasta county and Harrison Gulch was its most thrifty mining camp. A fire underground caused the mine to fill with water. It has never been unwatered.

Phone Operator Shouts 'Line's Busy' at Pastor

LONDON, July 14.—The Daily Express vouches for this story: A telephone operator went to sleep in church. She almost woke up as the preacher announced the congregation would sing hymn No. 423. All she heard was 423, and she shouted, "Line's busy."

Thanksgiving Appetites At 100° in the Shade!

When the mercury soars, appetites drop. Summer diets—especially children's—should be watched carefully, as proper hot weather nutrition is most important.

VEGEX

in itself is a food containing valuable elements needed in the summer diet:

Rich in Vitamin B
High in Iron and Iodine
Containing other necessary food salts

Enticingly Delicious Flavor

VEGEX is a concentrate of grain-grown yeast, many times more potent than ordinary yeast, but with a tempting appetite appeal. Its rich meaty taste stimulates desire for food yet satisfies desire for meat. A cup of VEGEX, hot or cold in water or milk, before breakfast and in the evening, soon proves by its beneficial effects that your diet requires Vitamin B and food salts.

Try This Appetizing Healthful Summer Dish

Dissolve a half package of gelatin in one cup cold water. Into two cups boiling water stir two teaspoons VEGEX. Add the gelatin; flavor with a dash of lemon, chill and serve in cups with lettuce sandwiches.

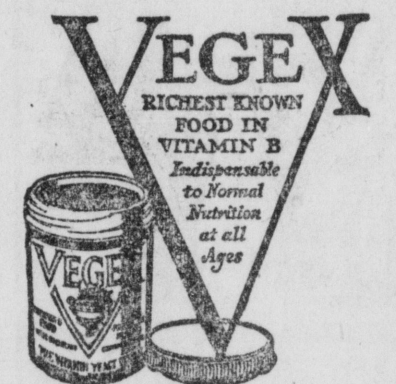

In VEGEX you have the means of correcting the lack of vital elements so prevalent in many modern over-refined foods.

Some recipes on the jar—many others in the Cook Book.

Honolulu Experiences And Impressions Related

Her year in Honolulu offered abundant story material from which Miss Kathleen Owens chose all manner of interesting anecdotes and experiences to relate to the Business and Professional Women assembled yesterday at St. Ann's Inn for their weekly luncheon.

Miss Owens, a former member of the club, was given a warm greeting by the girls who were delighted with her talk and the glimpses she offered of the Hawaiian Islands. She opened by assuring the club that its counterpart existed in Honolulu, a flourishing organization of nearly 100 members and boasting many celebrities including Fannie Heaslip Lee, noted writer.

After describing a recent successful cabaret presented by the Honolulu club, the speaker launched into a brief description of physical characteristics of the Islands, the extreme rainfall—300 inches a year on one—the volcanic formations with steam issuing from fissures in lava; the hot sulphur banks, the great ferns; the peculiar birds; the cane fields and the beautiful waterfalls.

She spoke of the recent army navy maneuvers and the large number of people from the mainland as a result of the stationing of troops, some 12,000 being there constantly, including enlisted men and their families. Aside from the American influence which makes Honolulu a city quite similar to our own Santa Ana, declares Miss Owens, with associations and organizations approximating those of the mainland, the Choral Union, Community Players and Symphony orchestra, the orientals and Portuguese were most interesting to occidental eyes. The kimono of the Japanese women, black trousers and rich coats of the Chinese, night-gown like native dress of the Hawaiians and queer little bodices with enormous sleeves of the Portuguese, gave her infinite pleasure.

Telling of the joys of surf-riding in the out-rigger canoes, Miss Owens related some interesting personal experiences and also spoke of the disappointment awaiting thousands of "goats" when they found the famous "Beach at Waikiki" almost shut away from them by the privately owned property facing on it. Picturesque sights of the beaches included the torch fisherman, but most interesting of all, and one of the most beautiful sights of the Islands according to Miss Owens, were the lunar rainbows in what she declared to be the whitest moonlight in the world.

It was with regret that the club members realized their noon hour was over for they had not yet heard half of the little intimate details of the speaker's year in Honolulu, but her promise to continue her talk at a future date and the declaration that she was returning to club membership quite soon, was cheering.

It was with keen regret that the members heard they were to lose a popular girl from the circle, Miss Ruth Walker who resigns her place at the Southern Counties Gas company to go to Los Angeles. It is hoped that she will return for the month's final meeting which will be a picnic supper at the Susan Rutherford cottage, Balboa Beach, on the night of Monday, July 27.

Kill Coyotes to Protect Mountain Sheep and Goats

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Coyotes kill Rocky Mountain sheep and goats, so government hunters wage a constant war on coyotes in order to protect the more desirable animals in Glacier National park.

The inaccessible cliffs to which the sheep and goats retreat are their only protection from attacks by the coyotes. Evenings both the sheep and goats come down into the little alpine meadows to feed, and if not harassed by coyotes they undoubtedly would remain at much lower levels during the daytime and they would consequently be of more general interest to the summer tourists.

Their safety on the cliffs is due to the naked rocks which are too rough and sharp for the hoofless feet of such carnivores as the coyotes.

During the late fall and winter months of 1924-1925 several hundred coyotes were killed by government hunters and this war of extermination has cleaned out the coyotes to such an extent, government officials report, that the sheep and goats probably will enjoy the most peaceful summer in the history of Glacier park.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

ORANGE GIRL WEDS MAN OF SANTA MONICA

ORANGE, July 14.—A very pretty wedding took place Saturday evening, July 11, at the parsonage of the First Methodist Church of Santa Monica when Miss Edna Dorothea Ward and George L. Hicks were united in marriage by the Rev. Eugene Franklin Gates. Miss Ward, the charming daughter of Ed Ward of Orange, wore a stunning gown of orchid georgette and silver lace.

The bride has resided in Orange for the past 14 years and is a graduate of the Orange Union high school and the Orange County Business College of Santa Ana.

Mr. Hicks, who is in charge of the Bay City Mercantile Store of Santa Monica, was in charge of the local Piggy Wiggle Store of Orange for one year. The young couple will make their home in Santa Monica.

On Saturday morning, July 11, at a single ring ceremony performed in Santa Ana, Miss Anna Marie Siegel of Anaheim became the bride of Julius Saez of Orange.

The bride wore a gown of white georgette and lace. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white sweet peas.

After the ceremony, the bridal party repaired to the flower laden Saez home where the bridal couple received congratulations. A five course banquet was served by the mother of the groom. The banquet was followed by a musical program.

The new Mrs. Saez is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siegel of the Conservatory of Music in Anaheim and is a gifted pianist. Mr. Saez is the son of Mrs. Anna Saez and is employed by the California Cordage company.

The happy young couple left Saturday evening for a trip through the Yosemite after which they will be at home on Lester Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. William Passer of North Batavia street entertained a few friends Saturday afternoon at the latter's home with a shower for Miss Alice Heil, who is soon to be the bride of H. R. Kyle, the son of Mrs. Passer.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent in visiting and with needed work. Each guest brought a gift.

At the close of a most pleasant afternoon refreshments were served. Those present were: Mrs. Mary Ritter, Mrs. A. R. Marshall, Mrs. E. Elliott, Miss Ruth Elliott, Helen, Miss Lela Ritter, all of Santa Ana, Mrs. H. A. Ritter of Tustin, Mrs. Stewart of Butler, Mo., Mrs. J. Lamp of Orange, Mrs. George Heil, Miss Lela Mae and Miss Alice Heil and the hostesses, Mrs. D. A. Kyle and children, Doran and Marilyn, and Mrs. Passer.

Adrian Tallman of Los Angeles, formerly of this city, and Miss Mildred Hayes of Los Angeles were guests Saturday of Mrs. Edith Cardwell of 505 east Washington avenue. Mrs. Cardwell and Mr. Tallman are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Woods of 220 south Orange street, who spent the past two weeks at Camp Baldy, returned home yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Woods and son, who spent the day there.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chapman and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Chapman spent the week end at their cabin in the Trabuco canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ballou, accompanied by their daughter, Aleen, and son Lester, motored to San Diego Sunday, returning last evening.

The Harry Huff family, who have been vacationing at Balboa for the past month, moved to their home, 153 North Center street, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ulbright of Glendale are visiting Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Pratt of 436 South Orange street.

Old Pioneer of Balboa Island Dies at Home

BALBOA, July 14.—Arthur Garrison, 81, pioneer resident of Balboa Island, died at his home on Turquoise avenue Saturday morning.

For thirteen years he has lived here, becoming well known to people of the island. Burial will be made in Pomona cemetery. Mrs. J. P. Storrs, his daughter, lives in Pomona. Many from here are planning to be present at the interment Thursday at 3:30 o'clock.

NOTED COMPOSER VISITS AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—Miss Gertrude Henderson, a pupil of Axel Simms of Los Angeles and a cellist of ability, is a house guest at the home of the famous composer, Anna Priscilla Fisher, whose home in Temple Hills is one of the prettiest places in Laguna Beach. Last week end Miss Fisher entertained Charles Wakefield Cadman, American composer, his mother, Mrs. Caroline Cadman, and his aunt, Miss Fisher's mother, Mrs. A. P. Fisher, who lives with her daughter, is interested in sketching the many lovely spots in and about Laguna Beach.

Merchants Hire Night Watchman

FULLERTON, July 14.—Businessmen of Fullerton, through the merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce, have contracted with B. F. Littlejohn, formerly of Bakersfield, to act as a merchant's police, for protection of their offices during the night. Littlejohn served for 15 years on the Bakersfield police force, and for 11 years as a merchant's police there. His work in that field proved very popular, according to Police Chief O. W. Wilson, who has appointed him to the position.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, July 14.—The dinky little freight cars to be seen on old world railroads have given American tourists in Europe many a hearty laugh in the past.

It is possible that these laughs were premature—that just such cars are what we need on our railroads here, for short-haul economy? Secretary Charles W. Holman of the American Institute of Cooperation thinks maybe so.

The institute includes 37 organizations of farmers, dairymen, fruit growers and others in allied industries. Its purpose is to get higher prices for these producers for the commodities they have to sell and at the same time to develop their markets by reducing the prices which "ultimate consumers" have to pay—in short, to reduce the producer-consumer price spread.

Also its aim is to cut down the prices which its members have to pay for what they themselves need—as consumers, for of course, part of the time, they're that, too.

Hardly necessary to say, the cost of transportation is an important item in creating the producer-consumer price spread, whether from farm producer to urban consumer or from industrial producer to rural consumer.

Now the producer complains that this cost is so high as to wipe his profit out. At the same time the consumer declares it so high as to make his living expenses ridiculous.

Simultaneously the railroads wall that it's so low they're nearly bankrupt—and one great system, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, actually is so that they make out a pretty good case.

Well, perhaps not all but many railroad men agree that the short haul is their great difficulty.

The law doesn't permit them to charge as much for short as for long hauls. Yet it isn't hard to prove that a short haul may cost them nearly as much, fully as much or even more than a long one.

A big single cargo is loaded into a huge car in San Francisco, the car's shot through to New York by the most convenient route, unloaded, and that ends it.

A similar huge car is kept waiting indefinitely in a congested yard in Chicago while a lot of little shipments are being accumulated, to fill it, for a dozen points nearby in Illinois.

Then it's hauled about, hither and yon, from town to town, its contents pawed over, handled, and reloaded, until at last it's empty, after endless bookkeeping and nobody knows how much bother and delay.

For long hauls the big car's all right. But for short ones, asks Holman, why not use the little affairs like Europe's?

A car of a third or a fourth the capacity of the great mammoth's could be loaded in its time, a light train of them could be strung together and then a small locomotive, economical of fuel and easy on the rails, could snake them off along the line, dropping them off

"EVOLUTION BURGLAR" SOUGHT BY POLICE FORCE OF ORANGE; SCALES WALLS LIKE SIMIAN

ORANGE, July 14.—Page Mr. Bark, reported hearing the dog bark violently about 3 o'clock. When the family returned home, they found the house upset, with things scattered over the floors. The burglars and closets were thoroughly ransacked by the intruder, who fled with two bracelets, two dresses, two silk gowns, two men's suits, six shirts and a traveling bag with the initials "A C. T."

The so-called "monkey burglar" digressed from the evolution theory in one important detail—the loot consisting of clothing, which, according to Mr. Bark, was all wrong, as cocoanuts would have been preferred.

The new-fangled robbery occurred at the home of L. H. Robinson, 601 North Batavia street, where, after climbing through the bedroom window, the thief escaped with a quantity of fine clothing, valued at several hundred dollars.

According to Officer L. E. Hurd, who investigated, the theft occurred Saturday afternoon, but was not discovered until 5:30 p. m., when the family returned home. A hired hand, working in the or-

PERSONAL NOTES OF LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Murphy and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ferguson have left for a two week's trip to Lake Arrowhead.

Miss Rebecca Hegaman is leaving in a few days for a motor trip to Needles, Ariz., where she will pick up a party of friends from Michigan and then drive through California to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Macbeth have just returned from a motor trip to British Columbia as have Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cummings, who motored through to the country north of Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Lord Frost and Miss Annie Gayle Peak heard the call of the road. They went to the Lake Cayamaca country in San Diego county.

Call Meeting To Take Up Program For Fiesta Week

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—Taking no chances on a dwindling enthusiasm that is now at the white heat over La Fiesta Española, the President of the Community Club, Frank Baker Champion, has called a big get-together meeting at the Community Club for the evening of July 15. Refreshments and a program will fill in the time between discussions of ways and means for making La Fiesta Española the biggest Spanish American blowout that ever hit California.

Counterfeiting On Decline In Britain

LONDON, July 14.—Despite the fact that the temptation to counterfeit money is much greater now than in any other period, recent announcement of Scotland Yard officials shows that the offense of forging is on the decline owing largely to the difficulties of copying the Bank of England notes.

Counterfeiting in England, until about 100 years ago, was punishable by the death penalty. Offenders, however, are still dealt with most severely, being subject to life imprisonment in first degree cases.

Scotland Yard has a branch of the service, similar to the U. S. secret service, which devotes its time almost entirely to keeping tabs on counterfeiters. Detectives of this bureau work with the aid of dealers in paper, ink, machinery and other apparatus usually required by counterfeiters and in most instances swoop down upon the offenders before they flood the market with their home-made money.

here and there and going on its way.

Another thing—up-to-date European freight cars are built in sections, and there's a good reason why. Basically they're flat cars. Each, however, has a super-structure consisting usually of three segments, separable but fitting together, so as to give the effect of an ordinary box car.

Say you're moving from Kansas City to St. Louis. You have about enough household goods to fill a third of a car. A motor truck backs up alongside one of these divisible cars.

A segment is slid off onto the truck and carried to your house. You load it up, back goes the segment to the "flat" and is slid back on board.

In St. Louis it's slid off once more, delivered at your door, unloaded and there you are. Say what you please about American efficiency, we can't tie that, not even with the motor truck.

What we need is the openness of mind to adopt a few of these modern European conveniences that look so funny to us when we visit "the other side" but might find a lot of our troubles if we'd fit them to suit our own needs, Holman thinks.

Think Abandoned Car Belongs To Orange Man

ORANGE, July 14.—Believed to have been stolen, a touring car, containing two suitcases, one bearing the name "W. Schilling, Orange, Cal.," today was being held at Santa Fe, N. M., according to telegraphic advice received by the local police department from Pat Lopez, police chief of that city.

The New Mexico authority wired local police to determine whether or not the machine had been stolen in this city. The car, which bears a California license plate number 964-797, was found abandoned by the Santa Fe police.

The one bearing the name of Schilling might have been stolen from the owner and the car might have no connection with it at all, according to local police, who, however, have no record of either theft.

The other suitcase in the abandoned machine bore the initials "E. M. T." So far as could be ascertained in the directory, there are no Schillings here having the initials found on the first bag.

FINE LONG BEACH MAN ON 2 COUNTS

BALBOA, July 14.—H. E. Livesey of Long Beach paid fines of $75 yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a double complaint of drunkenness and unlawful possession of intoxicating liquor.

While promenading the streets here Sunday evening, he was arrested for being drunk. A pint bottle of gin was found on him by Officers W. C. MacDonald and R. C. Alder, who made the arrest of Livesey. He spent the night in the Newport Beach jail and when he appeared in court he charged a car driven by D. W. Dean, local hardware merchant, while directing traffic at a funeral.

TO MEET AT PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, July 14.—Members of the Merchant's Division of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in an important business session. A speaker from Los Angeles will be present, and will talk on cooperative progressive merchandising. Other topics which the merchants will take up will be financing of the chamber, and a systematic program of advertising.

Cow Starts Row Ending In Deaths

FREDERICK, Okla., July 14.—A cow broke through a fence into a neighboring cotton patch near Loveland, resulting in the death of a woman and her daughter.

Mrs. Mel Matchen and her daughter, Laura, 18, were killed by shotgun wounds, alleged to have been inflicted by M. L. Graham, the neighbor who owned the cotton. Graham went to the Matchen home while Matchen was away, shot his wife, his daughter Laura and a second daughter, Mildred, 10.

Mildred was only slightly injured. Graham then turned the gun on himself. Physicians say there is slight chance of his recovery.

Bride Says Hubby Stole Her Jewels

SAN JOSE, Calif., July 14.—Mrs. Sarah Marcus, 32, bride of less than 24 hours, has appealed to Chief of Police J. N. Black to find her husband, Philip Marcus, and three diamond rings, which she says she gave him for safe keeping.

The woman declares that she and her husband went to a local hotel shortly after their wedding; that he took her diamond rings "to keep them safe from burglars," and then left the room to make some purchases. He did not return.

The marriage license gives the residences of both as San Francisco, and the age of the groom as 42. The young woman disappeared after telling her story to the police.

Buyers of Green Fruit Are Scored

FRESNO, July 14.—Launching a campaign against what they term irresponsible green fruit buyers operating in the valley, the Fresno Merchants' association, in cooperation with banks, has agreed to furnish credit information to farmers. Bank financial statements have been mailed to 108 buyers of fruit and failure to give the information asked will be taken as indication of bad faith, the association announced. The service is to be given to farmers free.

The rank and file of the national guard considered it quite an honor to be the first military contingent in the United States to be reviewed by a woman governor.

PLAYWRIGHT IS LAGUNA VISITOR OVER WEEK-END

LAGUNA BEACH, July 14.—John Colton, the author of "Rain," one of the most sensational successes on the New York stage for several seasons, was a house guest at the summer camp of Madame Margarita Orlova over the last week end.

Miss Willette Kershaw, one of New York's most favored actresses, although an English woman by birth, was another guest at the same camp, as was Mrs. George Hoffman, who has but recently returned from a stay in Tokyo, Japan.

John Colton's newest play, "The Shanghai Jester," is to be produced in New York this season with Mrs. Leslie Carter in the star role and with Madame Orlova in an important part. It is under the management of Sam Harris. Another of Colton's plays, "A Very Loose Lady," is to be put on in Los Angeles shortly with Willette Kershaw playing the lead.

LAGUNA ACTORS PREPARING PLAYS

LAGUNA BEACH, June 14.—The Players, an organization within the Community Club, who put on "Clarence" last year with so much success, are getting ready two short plays for the evening of July 24 to be produced under the direction of Miss Kathryn Cravath, who taught dramatics in the Anaheim High school last year.

Mrs. Alice Wakelee, chairman of The Players and their business manager, is the authority for the statement that the show will be unusually good.

The two plays are "All Gunned Up," by Gribble and "Columbine," by Clemens. The players are Mrs. C. C. Cravath, Gladys Handy, Earl Pitzel, Henry Goddard and Rex Hoover for "All Gunned Up" and Hedwig Boymann Pitzel and Sallie Hoover for "Columbine." Mrs. Fred A. Mott is arranging the music for the evening.

Policeman Held To Have Tried Marriage Coup

FULLERTON, July 14.—J. H. "Jake" Deist, popular Fullerton policeman, has been accused of matrimony, but denies the charges, according to a report from Chief O. W. Wilson.

Brother officers declare that they "have the dope" on Deist, but he refuses to "confess," and his case is being investigated by the local sleuths, who say they have a plain case against the former bachelor, and predict conviction in a short time.

A marriage license was issued in Los Angeles to J. H. Deist and Leona M. Rollo, and was discovered in a newspaper by other officers, who are clamoring for Deist to "pass out the cigars."

TROOPS REVIEWED BY 'MA' FERGUSON

AUSTIN, Tex., July 14.—As commander-in-chief of the Texas national guard, Governor Miriam Ferguson reviewed the 75th infantry brigade, in encampment here.

Contrary to general expectation, Governor Ferguson did not appear on the parade grounds riding a prancing horse, nor did she wear a uniform, as some reports had it she was going to do.

Shortly before the hour for the review her own motor car and accompanied by her husband, ex-Governor "Jim" Ferguson, and her 6-year-old grandson, George Nalle Jr., who, by virtue of his position as a member of the military staff of his grandfather, was dressed in the uniform of a colonel.

There was nothing Amazonian about the appearance of Governor Ferguson as she stood on the platform and watched the saluting soldiers pass before her. She smiled and nodded her head now and then, while her husband bowed.

When Governor Ferguson received the invitation from Maj. Gen. John A. Hulen to review the troops, the question whether she would be mounted on a horse was discussed. Her husband is said to have favored the idea, but she promptly vetoed it.

It had been many years since she rode, she explained, and she did not entirely approve the modern riding habits, she had no desire to make a spectacle of herself. She chose to wear a cool and comfortable summer dress and stand up on the reviewing platform while the brigade passed by.

The rank and file of the national guard considered it quite an honor to be the first military contingent in the United States to be reviewed by a woman governor.

Reprinted from the First Balloon Tire Announcements

"You ride on a cushion of air."
"Ruts and bumps are smoothed out."
"The car and its occupants are protected from jolts and jars."
"Shocks are absorbed before they reach axles and springs."
"On uneven roads where ordinary tires bounce, these flexible low-air pressure tires roll over the bumps, permitting better average speed."
"Save repairs."

Low-Air Pressure is the Answer

HERE is a list of balloon tire advantages taken from the first balloon tire announcements.

These were the things that car owners wanted. The things that made them demand balloon tires. Read them and then ask yourself how you can get them except in a tire that can be run at low enough air pressure to provide a soft air cushion between the car and the road.

Some car owners have been sold the balloon principle and then handed the name only.

Just a big, round, fat tire with the name "Balloon" on it will not necessarily give low-air pressure riding comfort.

The original ideal of the industry was a flexible side wall, low-pressure tire.

Yet today some "balloon" tires must be run at too high pressure for ideal cushioning, as they wear out too fast when they are run soft.

It is important to you as a car owner to remember this fact.

The United States Royal Balloon is spoken of as the "Balloon Tire Principle at its Best," because it can be run at low-air pressure without injury.

It is built of Latex-treated Web Cord which provides the necessary strength and flexibility.

It has the U.S. Low-Pressure Tread which wears slowly and evenly and eliminates early, uneven and unsightly wear.

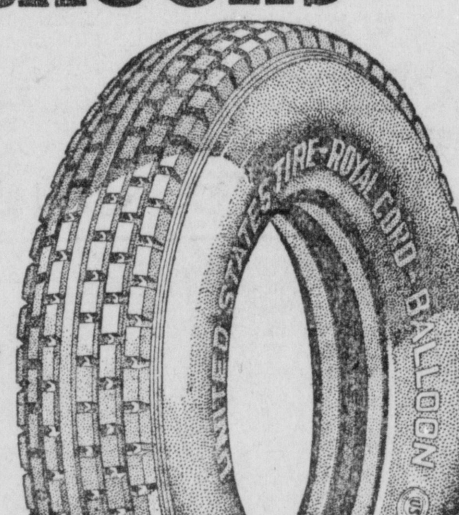

Specify U.S. Royal Balloon Cords and be sure of true low-pressure cushioning.

CANCER CAUSE REVEALED IN GYE'S REPORT

LONDON, July 14.—Through the courtesy of the Lancet, the United Press today is enabled to give extracts from Dr. W. E. Gye's report on experiments from which Dr. Gye concludes that cancer is a specific disease caused by a virus or group of viruses.

Dr. Gye's article concludes that the way is now open to classification of viruses investigating the nature of the so-called "specific factor" and testing suspected irritants. Gye indicates he suspects that deleterious preservatives in foods may be connected with cancer.

Extends 1911 Discovery. Gye reveals that his experiments are an extension of the famous 1911 discovery of Dr. Peyton Rous, of the Rockefeller Institute. "These researches," his article says, "led me to look upon cancer, using the term in its widest sense, as a specific disease caused by a virus or group of viruses."

"Under experimental conditions, the virus alone is ineffective, but a second specific factor obtained from tumor extracts ruptures the cell defenses and enables the virus to infect."

"Under natural conditions, irritation of the tissue sets up a state under which infection can occur. The connection between the specific factor and the irritant remains to be investigated. Some relatively unimportant irritants are known, such as coal tar and paraffin oils."

"The virus probably lives and multiplies in the cell and provokes the cell to continued multiplication."

Irritants Are Tested. "The methods of experiment now described and the obvious extensions of them give a means of classifying the viruses and testing suspected irritants, such as preservatives in food which may play a role in the genesis of the tumor."

Scientists still warn against cancer sufferers raising their hopes too high, since it was pointed out that the discoveries of Gye and Barnard by no means indicate that a cure has been found but merely the cause or one of the causes of cancer.

However, the discoveries are held epochal and it was felt that they may lead the way to possible discovery of a real cure.

TO PRINT BIOGRAPHY OF LATE JUDGE COX

Indicative of the nation-wide prominence which the late Justice John B. Cox, of Santa Ana, attained, are requests received by his only daughter, Mrs. Mary Cox Emerson, who is a teacher in the Paulino school, from the National Encyclopedia of American Biographies, of New York City, for reliable data on which to perpetuate his memory.

The National Encyclopedia, which points out that it has been in the publishing business for the last 24 years, says that it is only interested in a "carefully selected list of individuals who are prominent both nationally and locally."

"As one of the leading jurists in California," a recent letter to Mrs. Emerson states, "our editors feel that a just and representative account of your father's life and work belongs in our forthcoming volume."

The late Judge Cox died on Dec. 1, 1924.

Experts Battle Damage Wrought By Insect Mite

PHILADELPHIA, July 14.—Botanic experts at the University of Pennsylvania are being drafted to assist in the destruction of a mite which annually causes hundreds of thousands of dollars damage to the cyclamen a widely used Christmas flower in America.

At the government experimental station near here representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture have long investigated the destruction wrought by the mite.

The mite, of the spider family, so small as to be virtually invisible, causes a streaking and distortion of the leaves and flowers on the cyclamen plant.

ROBINS STEAL LACE. YORK, Pa.—Mrs. David Small lost a piece of lace about three inches long. A week later she found that robins had stolen it and used it to make their nest.

Weddings Called Off Because of Mosquito Pests

NEW ORLEANS, July 14.—Mosquitoes, which have descended in larger swarms than usual this summer on New Orleans and other places along the Gulf coast, have been blamed for bad dispositions and almost everything else. But the latest charge against them comes from Tangipahoa parish, where the pests are accused of causing the postponement of five weddings in one week. The weddings were to have been outdoor affairs in keeping with the season.

A dry winter, which caused the death of thousands of small fishes and other forms of animal life that prey upon mosquito larvae, followed by unusual rains this spring, are the causes given locally for the unusual plague of mosquitoes. Local health officials say that in the main they are harmless, at least insofar as germ carrying goes.

Druggists that sell various ill-smelling oils have reaped a harvest this summer and smudges of burning rags, rubber and Spanish moss are common sights in front and back yards and even on sidewalks here. Good screens keep most of the pests out, provided screen doors are closed quickly when one enters or leaves a building.

ISSUE WARNING AGAINST FLOOD OF BAD CHECKS

A warning to exercise the greatest care in cashing traveler's checks for strangers was given this morning to all local merchants and hotel keepers, by David H. Betten, manager and secretary of the Orange County Credit Bureau.

The warning was based on information received by the local credit association from headquarters of the National Association of Credit Bureaus, supplemented by advices received from the American Bankers' association, of New York.

Checks Flood Country. According to these advices, the country is being flooded with traveler's checks, stolen from their rightful owners, or secured in an illegal manner. The checks are being cashed by questionable individuals, traveling from one place to another. In addition to genuine traveler's checks, there have been attempts to counterfeit such checks, the advices added.

In his instruction to the merchants, Betten suggested that under no circumstances should a traveler's check be cashed unless the prescribed identification counter-signature is made in the presence of the merchant or taker of the check. If the check already has been countersigned before of cash or cash or payment of a bill, the merchant should require the giver to indorse it again on the back.

Urges Identification. If the signature on the back fails to correspond with the two signatures on the front, there is reason to believe that the giver is not the rightful owner, and the check should be refused.

Betten also urged that more care be given to the cashing of such checks; first, to insure that they are given by the proper party; second, that they have not been stolen from banks or express offices, or counterfeited for fraudulent use.

In 1862 the city of Lima, Peru, lost 70,000 of its inhabitants by earthquake.

Lemon Juice Whitens Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard-White, which any druggists will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms, and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach.

You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE AT BIRTHDAY MEET

Elks from all sections of the country are expected to attend the 23rd birthday celebration of the local Elks lodge tonight, at 8 o'clock, W. R. Gordon, exalted ruler, said today.

Included on the elaborate program of entertainment will be several vaudeville numbers. All of the charter members and the members of the Riverside lodge, the instituting body, have been extended special invitations to be present.

A lunch will be served in the Elks cafe at the conclusion of the meeting.

Young Girl Holds Down 6 Positions

TRIBUNE, Kas., July 14.—Eighteen years old and an assistant cashier in a bank, stenographer, manager in a real estate office, school teacher, owner of a wheat farm, and still a housekeeper, is the achievement of a Tribune girl. Holding down six jobs, Miss Bernice Wilson is a living testimonial of the place "where men are men and women are sometimes governors." She is the daughter of Clement L. Wilson, prominent in financial circles of the western part of the state.

During the session of the state legislature two years ago she assisted her father part of the time in committee work, he being the representative from Greeley county.

New York Scions Labor at Resort

MEDFORD, Ore., July 14.—Douglas Robinson, son of the assistant secretary of the navy, Theodore D. Robinson, and Stephen Van Rensselaer, member of a prominent New York family, arrived here and went immediately to Crater Lake, where they will be employed as snow shovelers and forest rangers during the summer. Young Robinson is a grand nephew of the late President Roosevelt, and Van Rensselaer, is a descendant from Killian Van Rensselaer, who acquired large estates in New York between 1630 and 1637.

Tailor Mends Free For Home Inmates

NEW YORK, July 14.—Himself a wealthy man, Charles J. Wickman, retired manufacturing tailor of Rochester, N. Y., is devoting his life to mending the clothes and spirits of unfortunates at the Salvation Army Memorial hotel here. Every day he repairs coats and trousers, offering helpful counsel to their owners as he works.

Miners Puzzled At Phenomenon

JACKSON, Calif., July 14.—Miners on the lower levels of the Argonaut mine have noticed a peculiar phenomenon.

Between the hours of 11 o'clock at night and 2 o'clock in the morning, the mine timbers on the lower levels groan and creak as if an exceptional strain was being put on them.

The miners express no fear because that is no danger of the ground closing in or of the timbers breaking. They are at a loss, however, to account for the noises and would like to have an explanation.

This phenomenon also occurs in the Grass Valley district. Rescue crews from the North Star mine, who several weeks ago were engaged in digging Robert Hill, entombed miner, out of the deeper recesses of the Baltic tunnel of the Alta Combination mines, reported that between the hours of midnight and 2 o'clock each morning, there was a noticeable shifting of the ground in a certain section of the tunnel, which caused the timbering to creak.

Experienced mining engineers of the district were unable to account for the regularity with which the ground movements occurred.

JOY AND BILL HARPER DON'T REWAIL PRICES OF AUTO TIRES

S. A. Men Own 40,000 Old Casings and Expect to Sell Them for $40,000

COLLECT RUBBER FOR MANY YEARS

Got Much For Nothing and Will Reap Fortune When Tubes Are Disposed Of.

While the average motorist is bewailing the recent advance in the price of automobile tires, at least two Santa Ana men are chuckling and cashing their checks.

That isn't stretching it a bit. Joy and Bill Harper own 40,000 old tires, big, little and indifferent.

Piled up, they form a veritable mountain back of an old barn on West Fifth street.

The Harper brothers have been collecting them for years. Many of them were offered free if they were hauled away.

The Harper brothers had kept insight into the future.

Some day, they thought, the rubber market would advance.

The rubber trees would begin to dry up.

Old tires would be much in demand.

Old Rubber $1 Pound.

That day has come. Rubber is selling at a dollar a pound.

Now listen to these approximate figures:

The tires cost on the average of two or three cents each.

The average tire weighs 10 pounds.

For these tires Harper brothers will get about 10 cents a pound, or about $1 a tire.

They have 40,000 tires.

But that isn't all.

Harper brothers are selling the discarded rubbers to a Long Beach junk company which, in turn, will resell them to a coast branch of a tire factory.

The junk company intends to make just as much money as the Harper brothers.

And if the tire company couldn't make some money from buying the old tires from the Long Beach company it wouldn't buy 'em.

New Tires From Old.

And if the tire company couldn't make the old tires into new ones and resell them to the same folk who gave them to the Harper brothers they wouldn't be in the business.

Thus, it can plainly be seen that some folk are going to make a lot of money.

Just this comforting thought:

Start across the Mojave desert in your Lizzie. Front tire blows out. Run it 100 miles to what has been described as a service station.

Pay a fortune for a new tire, half of which is composed of the old ones you threw away.

Someday makes some money.

All of which proves again, Harper brothers had some insight.

"So they took the $40,000" and bought up senile automobile tires.

(Time to retire).

AUTO CLUB LASS CLIMBS ATOP MOUNTAIN OF DISCARDED TIRES NOW WORTH FORTUNE

Miss Edith Hammon, of the Automobile Club of Southern California, Santa Ana office, had to do some real mountain goat stuff to get on top of this huge pile of old tires, owned by Joy and Bill Harper. The Harper brothers, it is said, stand to win a fortune through the sale of the old rubber by virtue of the recent advance in the price of new rubber to a dollar a pound.

NEW TRIAL ON EL CAPITAN IS TO BE SOUGHT

Motion for a new trial of the El Capitan case, which occupied a local court for a month, will be made before Superior Judge Marvin Conkling, of El Centro, this week, according to word reaching here today from San Diego.

The city of San Diego is seeking the new trial, on the ground that the Orange county jury's valuation of $600,000 for El Capitan was an excessive verdict.

Whether the new trial would be held in Santa Ana, if granted, has not been made known. It is generally understood that a place outside San Diego county would be selected.

Attorneys for the city expressed amazement at the jury verdict, having expected that the verdict could not possibly exceed $10,000.

The La Mesa, Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Irrigation district, owner of El Capitan, had on the other hand valued the property at $1,000,000. Its attorneys were jubilant at the verdict.

San Diego city officials have indicated that the city would refuse to take El Capitan at the $600,000 valuation. The county, however, may require the owners to pay taxes based upon such valuation, it is said. The present valuation of El Capitan for taxation is said to be $12,200. This valuation includes consideration of the property as a dam site, which utility was barred from consideration by the local jury.

STRIFE OVER CARS' MERITS ENDS IN WRECK AND JAILING OF HOST AT HOUSE PARTY

The respective merits of a certain expensive eight-cylinder car and a "six" of the same line, the owners of which were attending a house party at East Newport, led to the wreck of one car, the jailing of one owner and a criminal charge that was heard against Howard A. Younglove, of East Newport, in justice court here yesterday.

George W. Hogg, 1032 East Ocean avenue, Long Beach, drove his expensive "eight" to Younglove's house party at East Newport, according to his story in Justice K. E. Morrison's court, where he prosecuted his erstwhile host. He had no acquaintance with Younglove, but went as the guest of a friend, he said.

Younglove owned a "six" of the same make as Hogg's "eight." There was some discussion as to the difference the two cylinders would make in performance of the cars, and, according to Younglove's defense, each agreed that the other should "try out" his car.

Later in the evening, those in the house party attended a dance at the yacht club. Younglove apparently couldn't rid his mind of those two extra cylinders boasted by his guest's car. With another of his guests, he slipped out to "give 'er a trial."

The two extra cylinders must have given the driver more power than he was accustomed to, for on a hill between Newport Beach and Costa Mesa he lost control and the car upset. It was badly wrecked and his friend was severely hurt. Younglove, himself, escaped with a few scratches.

News of the wreck percolated back to the yacht club, where the dancers were still making merry.

Hogg being unaware of his car's absence. When he heard of a wreck he rushed out to enter his car and investigate. It was gone. In haste he seized Younglove's "six" and fared forth.

Basis for Defense

His action at that point has been used by Younglove as a peg upon which to hang a defense, first a charge of grand larceny, and then a substitute charge of driving an automobile without its owner's consent.

Hogg denies that there was any agreement for an exchange of cars. But Younglove points out that Hogg didn't hesitate to take Younglove's car. He contends that Hogg should face the same charge he filed.

"That's different," counters Hogg. "That was an emergency."

Younglove was held to answer to superior court by Justice Morrison yesterday, after the charges against him had dwindled down the scale of crime from the early possibility of manslaughter to yesterday's complaint of driving without the owner's consent.

The hearing gained considerable color from the sheik and flapper atmosphere supplied by witnesses. Several members of the late house party were on hand to give their versions of the argument over "sicks" and "eights."

Manslaughter Charge Looms

The manslaughter charge loomed for a while after the wreck when it appeared that Younglove's friend might die. But he recovered and Hogg then filed a grand larceny charge. This was abandoned when an investigation disclosed the debate over "sicks" and "eights," and what it apparently had led to. Hogg still thought Younglove should be punished for wrecking his car, so he filed the charge that was heard.

At yesterday's hearing, Younglove's bail was reduced from $1000 to $500. He was defended by Attorney Eugene Best, of the firm of Best and Best, Riverside. Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wetlin conducted the prosecution.

SEWER, WATER ARE REQUIRED IN ADDITIONS

Proposed Annexation Favored by Mayor Tubbs If Cost Is Borne by Area

Annexation of territory to the north and south of Santa Ana, as suggested at a recent meeting of the Santa Ana Board of Realtors, would be a step in the right direction, in the opinion of J. W. Tubbs, mayor of Santa Ana.

However, Tubbs said that, in the matter of annexing sections to the south, where there have been a large number of subdivisions, it would be necessary for the district to install sewer and adequate water mains under the assessment district plan before he would give official approval to addition of that territory to the city.

He pointed out that new territory, either north or south, would not be liable for any of the bonded indebtedness of the city, and that, in the case of the south section, it would be unfair to property owners in the city proper to annex that district and then be compelled later to bear their proportion of the costs of properly watering and sewerage of the district.

Up Numerous Times

"Annexation of districts to the south has been put up to the city council numerous times," the mayor said. "We have told them directly interested in the movement that, if they would form an assessment district to embrace only the new territory for the purpose of installing a water system that would be adequate for the district and would put in a sewer system, we would take the steps necessary to annexation."

"In the subdivided tracts, water lines, that are inferior and inadequate to meet the demands of the district, have been installed. One and two-inch mains would have to be replaced with larger pipes. The sewer and water systems would have to meet approval of our engineers before we would entertain acceptance of the added district."

Still in Acreage

Discussing the situation as to adding territory to the north, the mayor pointed out that virtually all the property between Main street and the Santa Ana river, as far south as Chapman street, the district suggested for annexation, is still in acreage, and that, under the policy of the city council, water mains, sewers, sidewalk and paving would be taken care of by subdividers cutting the acreage into city lots or small tracts.

"Subdividers now are required to put in all of these improvements at their own expense before we will accept maps," Tubbs said.

The mayor said that in event of annexation, the city would be required to develop more water. In his opinion the necessary water can be developed as needed, but he pointed out that provision should necessarily be made for greater storage capacity than is available now. And on the point of storage, the mayor again emphasized the importance of additional storage under a gravity plan, such as was proposed in the recent bond election.

More Money for New Church Made By S. S. Classes

COSTA MESA, July 14.—More money will be added to the budget fund for a new Costa Mesa church, if plans of the Loyals' Sunday school class of the Community church are carried out here tonight. The class has secured Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church of Santa Ana, to give one of his excellent demonstrations of magic.

The entertainment will be given at the church under the auspices of the Sunday school class. No admission will be charged but following the evening program a collection will be taken. The program will start at 7:30 p. m. Rev. Porter will be prepared to render a large assortment of sleight of hand tricks, and to show an expose of some of the spiritualist seances.

MOZLEY IS INTERVIEWED, YES AND NO, ON VARIOUS PUBLIC QUESTIONS OF DAY

By E. MERLE HUSSONG

Here's what was asked Charles N. Mozley, chief deputy district attorney:

What about Bryan?

What about Darrow?

What about evolution?

What about the prohibition law?

What about perjury in the state courts?

The chief deputy district attorney is a busy man.

He doesn't "go in" much for the personal publicity.

Perhaps he thought that I had when he offered to give an interview while he was striding down Broadway, that he would scare off the reporter. But the reporter had his questions all framed in advance and about all he, the reporter, had to do was to match strides, try to keep up intellectually with the chief deputy district attorney, dodge the reckless drivers and remember everything Mr. Mozley said.

Try that some hot afternoon between cokes.

Bryan—"Oh, well Bryan is just seeking publicity like he always has—Look out for that car, son."

Darrow—"As for Darrow, I can't say that I agree with him in his stand. Ability is another thing—Some of these driver's don't know what a signal is."

Perjury—"No, I wouldn't say perjury in the courts is on the increase, as Darrow claims. Times are changing. We are living more or less in the jazz age. People are more prone to change their testimony to fit conditions and situations—We'll stop at the title office."

Prohibition law—"Let me tell you, sir, prohibition is here to stay, and don't you forget it. I worked many years helping to banish the saloon. That day will come when the bootlegger will follow the saloon and I will do all I can to bring it about—Certainly is hot today."

Evolution—"I am not an evolutionist. I haven't got much time to discuss that. As far as trying to legislate against it, I think the law is all bunk. Personally, you may put me down for a fundamentalist. I am a fundamentalist, chiefly to keep out of controversy. I don't think a thing like that, of a religious nature, should be dragged into the courts."

Then an extra question was thrown in because we had so much time and there were 10 feet left to go.

"What do you think of the modern jazz age?"

Jazz age—"No, I don't think that the young people are necessarily getting worse, nor do I think they are so much better. As I said before, times change, conditions are different, there is a different viewpoint on life nowadays—Well, see you again sometime."

End interview. Business of mopping brow and trying to remember all he said.

KARYL NORMAN CALLED BETTER THAN ELTINGE

By REVIEWER
Karyl Norman is a vaudeville gem of the purest ray. Long an Orpheum circuit headliner, the "Creole Fashion Plate" made his inaugural appearance in Santa Ana yesterday with the five-act Orpheum bill at Walker's theater.

Norman alone is worth the price of admission. He has what we consider the best vaudeville act that has ever been presented in this city. In fact, he has everything.

He has made female impersonation an art. He can sing equally well in soprano or baritone. He appears in a glorious, glittering, gaudy attire of gowns. He is the star of one of the most unusual acts on the stage today. He is better than Julian Eltinge. Who can say more?

Norman was forced to respond to any number of curtain calls yesterday and to his credit he did so. He was a most gracious and a most willing slave to the Walker theatergoers who were loth to let him close his act. "The Creole Fashion Plate" overshadows the rest of the bill and that is saying something for there isn't a dull instant during the long entertainment.

Ward and Van (De Michele brothers) offer a most amusing sketch entitled "Off Key" that really must be heard to be fully appreciated. They are musicians extraordinary and they interperse their melody with just enough comedy "bum notes" to tickle the risibility of their audience.

Those two little darlings of stage and screen, Jane and Katherine Lee, pour more pep and life into the novel sketch, "At the Studio," than is seen in a dozen ordinary acts. Most of their stuff is ex-cruciatingly funny but they show they also are capable of emotional acting.

Clark Morrell, an excellent singer, and the Burns brothers, who dispense thrills galore with their acrobatics, also are on the bill in worth while numbers.

Stage and Screen

Tom Mix in a scene from "The Rainbow Trail," current attraction at the West End theater.

Virginia Valli who has leading role in "Up the Ladder," a most entertaining picture now showing at Walker's theater.

"HIS SUPREME MOMENT" AT YOST TONIGHT

Attracted by the hugh lights which illuminated the sky from sundown to dawn, hundreds of residents of the San Fernando valley made the long and difficult trip into the rocky fastnesses where George Fitzmaurice recently filmed an important episode of "His Supreme Moment," in which Blanche Sweet and Roland Coleman are featured at the Yost theater.

Preferring real scenery to the studio product, Fitzmaurice selected the rock plateau above Chatsworth, Cal., known as the "Little Garden of the Gods" because of its striking resemblance to the famous Colorado scenic point, as the locale for a spectacular sequence of scenes in which Blanche Sweet and Roland Coleman stage a fierce fight with an attacking mob of South American miners which ends in the burning of the mine buildings. Powerful arcs were used for the night action, and the reflection of the illumination on the sky could be seen for miles around.

MIX SCORES HIT IN "RAINBOW TRAIL"

Tom Mix has filled "The Rainbow Trail" with swift action, tense dramatic situations and an abundance of real Mix thrills. This latest production, now showing at the West End theater, is based on the story from the pen of Zane Grey, and the combination of these men of the west, Mix and Grey, results in a picture of unusual quality.

A loyal and efficient partner of the popular star is Tony, his wonder horse. A gigantic snow slide, perilous rides and hairbreadth escapes figure importantly in the unfolding of the tale.

Anne Cornwall is the charming object of Tom's affection. George Bancroft and Mark Hamilton, the villains, meet their just doom. Others who contribute exceptional characterizations are Diana Miller, Lucien Littlefield, Carol Holloway, Fred De Silva, Steve Clemente and Vivian Oakland. Lynn Reynolds directed.

S. A. People Decline to Talk On Evolution

Inalienable right of each individual is to worship God according to the precepts of his conscience.

"Applying this theory to the Tennessee anti-evolution law, it would seem that the law is violative of the personal liberty and freedom of worship sections of the constitutions of Tennessee and the United States.

"Regardless of our own personal beliefs on evolution, the Scopes trial is regrettable on account of the wide publicity being given it. It is not a controversy between science and religion, as there is no real conflict between the two.

"The whole gist of this sensational trial is whether Professor Scopes has violated the Tennessee anti-evolution law, and if so, if that law transcends or violates the constitutions of Tennessee and the United States."

"Up the Ladder," a highly entertaining motion picture with Virginia Valli and Forrest Stanley in the leading roles, rounds out a most excellent show.

The entertainment will be repeated tonight and tomorrow with matinees both days.

NEW OIL RIG IS ERECTED AT COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, July 14.—Another oil rig was up here today and preparations are being rushed to spud in the well Wednesday, according to Dr. J. J. Rekar, individual operator from Los Angeles, who recently took over a three acre lease in the western section of the local field.

According to Rekar, he will use the latest type of rotary equipment. He has also recently entered the field in the San Fernando district. Rekar's lease calls for him to go to a depth of 2500 feet if oil is not found before that depth is reached. He declared yesterday that he believed oil would be encountered at about 700 feet.

Various reports are circulating from the other wells about the field. Oil companies have let down a veil of secrecy about their operations. A report yesterday was to the effect that the Rosenberg well No. 2 on the Roundtree property had struck a large gas pocket. Indications at the well are good, it is claimed. The well is a deep test hole and is using rotary equipment.

Reports have also been circulated to the effect that the Nelson well on Nineteenth street has struck oil. The report could not be verified.

A few simple materials make A TASTY CAKE

—but however simple the ingredients, the mixing is hard work when the shortening is stiff.

Fluffo is made to stay fluffy in all kinds of weather. It mixes easily and evenly with the flour—without a lot of creaming and stirring.

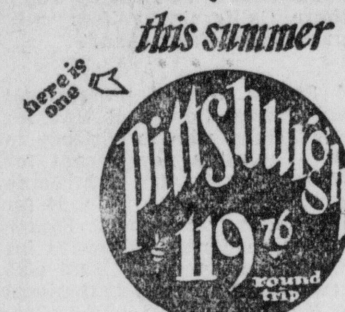

Try this Feather Cake. The materials are easy to find, and with Fluffo they are easy to mix.

FLUFFO Feather Cake
Cream together 1/2 cup FLUFFO and 1 cup sugar. Add 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Cream all together. Beat 2 egg whites to stiff froth and add. Mix and sift 1 1/2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and add to first mixture alternately with 1/2 cup milk. Bake in well-greased loaf pan in moderate oven, 375° F. for 45 min. Cover with any preferred frosting.

BOY SCOUTS' CORNER

PARKS RETURNS FROM WEEK-END IN SCOUT CAMP

Karl Parks, scoutmaster of Troop 3, Fullerton, returned yesterday from a week-end trip to Rockledge, where a number of his scouts are spending two weeks.

Parks brought favorable reports from camp and said the scouts were planning to start on a long hike early today. A hike, with pack animals, has been a feature of this summer's camping at Rockledge.

The Fullerton scouts, comprising one patrol, had won a camp inspection up to yesterday morning. Early Wednesday morning, eight Anaheim scouts will leave for Rockledge, making the attendance for the second period in excess of 60 scouts and officers.

Camp officers for the second period are V. E. Teaney, camp director; Dana Lamb, assistant camp director; Bill Reed, chief cook; Clark Sackman, assistant cook; Donald Keller, quartermaster, and Ed Murphy, sanitary officer.

PROGRAM FOR BAR MEET ANNOUNCED

Announcement has been received of the program of the State Bar association, meeting at Lake Tahoe this summer. President George F. McNoble of Stockton, will deliver the principal address, "How the Bar May Further Aid the Courts in the Administration of Justice."

The bar of Nevada will participate in the session on the border of the two states, and the annual address will be delivered by the Hon. Orrin Kip Murray.

Delegates appointed by all constituent bar association and members of the state bar association compose the membership of the annual meeting.

The delegates from Orange county have not yet been announced. Lawyers desiring membership may communicate with George Varum, Anaheim.

Court Notes

Judgment Asked.

Judgment for $415.27 was asked today in a superior court suit filed by W. S. Johnson against John E. Milbrat Jr. of the Fashion Boot shop at Orange. Johnson claims the amount is due on an account with an eastern shoe factory, which assigned its claim to Johnson.

Probate of Will.

An estate valued at $4200 was involved today in a petition by S. N. Fuller to the superior court to probate the will of William Freeman, who died June 29 at Fullerton. The estate includes property at El Centro.

Four children of the deceased were made heirs. The will sets forth that the widow, Isabelle Freeman, of Fullerton, has already received more than half of the decedent's property.

Foreclosure Suit.

Foreclosure of property at Orange was sought today in a suit on file in superior court. Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Evans appearing as plaintiffs against Frank Williams and Ruby Bussey. The property was said to have been sold by the plaintiffs to the defendants under contract for $985. The sum of $723.24 has not been paid, it is alleged.

Suit For Divorce.

Venus Rockwell, of Fullerton, asked for a divorce from Theodore Rockwell, in a complaint on file today in superior court. Cruelty was charged. The Rockwells married at Whittier June 28, 1921, and separated last March.

Separate Maintenance.

Claiming that her husband has failed to support her, and by false promises induced her to give him a quitclaim deed to ten acres of land at Oceanside, Mrs. Carrie Wilson of Fullerton today had a suit for separate maintenance on file in superior court against Edward Wilson.

The Wilsons were married at Deerpark, Washington, in 1914. Their separation occurred last Friday, according to the complaint. Mrs. Wilson did not demand any specific sum as alimony.

Haunt Threat Is Cause of Divorce

RENO, July 14.—Ethelbert W. Talbot had a wife who, not content with making his life miserable, threatened to return after her death and haunt him, according to his story before District Judge Bartlett in a plea for a divorce.

He said Grace B. Talbot had a nagging disposition and declared her ghost would annoy him wherever he went.

Judge Bartlett granted the divorce.

Pastor Dims Light For Church Lovers

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 14.—That he purposely lowered the lights in church so that young people could hold hands was the frank confession of the dean of Manchester. "Some people have protested against my policy," he said. "They have asserted that I was 'only encouraging them.' But why shouldn't young people hold hands in church?"

Eagle Scout Is Named In Charge Of Camp Outing

Kenneth Ward, Eagle scout and assistant scoutmaster of Troop 2, Huntington Beach, has been appointed by the scout committee to take charge of all scout activities at the scout cabin during the summer months.

Huntington Beach scout troops are sponsored by the Lions club, with R. J. Prescott as chairman of the joint committees.

All three troops have shown a great deal of interest in the Boy Scout program during the last four years. Troop 1 has at present five Eagle scouts.

BEFORE LIBERTY BELL.

In accordance with an annual custom, the Daughters of the Revolution observed Flag day in conjunction with the Philadelphia council of scouts by presenting flags to 43 troops. Several hundred persons gathered about a specially constructed platform, south of Independence hall, in the shadow of the Liberty Bell to witness the ceremony. A special color guard marched beside the flag bearer of each of the 43 troops participating in the event, and the northern end of Independence Square was transformed into a forest of emblems.

HONOR PAID SCOUT

In honor of Theodore Roosevelt, Scouts of Troop 101, Northampton, Mass., planted a maple tree and registered it on the honor roll of the American Tree association, in Washington. The tree was the gift of Charles E. Childs, in Indianapolis, Ind., scouts planted silver birches and dedicated the grove to Roosevelt's memory.

SCOUTS IN REVIEW

An impressive ceremony occurred last month in Madrid, when the national flag of Spain was presented to a group of Boy Scouts. The scouts lined up in the beautiful Retiro gardens, where King Alfonso, the queen, the Prince of Asturias and the Marquis de Estella greeted them. The crown prince and his brothers were uniformed of the Boy Scouts of Spain.

ACTUAL FIRST AID.

Several hundred persons witnessed first aid unexpectedly at the annual Boy Scouts' field day in Meriden, Conn., last week. In the midst of events a four-year-old's finger became wedged in the chain of a bicycle. The chain had to be taken off to release it. Scouts skillfully performed both the first aid of binding the finger and the mechanical job of taking off the chain.

PLAN TO OPEN TRAINING CAMP FOR OFFICIALS

A special training course for scoutmasters, their assistants and prospective scoutmasters is being considered at scout headquarters, according to a letter sent to all scoutmasters in the county last week by the scout executive.

The plan is to take all available men into camp on Wednesday, August 4, and conduct a combination training and recreational program for four days.

A limited number of men will take their families with them, and a special program is being planned for the ladies.

Registrations for the training camp already are coming in and it is expected that at least 20 men will attend the camp.

PUT OUT FIRE.

Forty-two Maryland scouts now boast membership in the Maryland State Forestry association because they gave up baseball one recent holiday to put out a forest fire. The scouts were due to play baseball in High Rock for the championship of western Maryland. They found a forest fire raging. Baseball bats were turned into fire-fighting apparatus and the afternoon spent in putting out the fire.

TRAFFIC CONTROLLED

Reckless driving and violation of stop signs on cross streets have been decided on the decrease in Ada, O., during the last 10 days as the result of a campaign conducted by Mayor Kinsman and town officials with the aid of local scouts. The boys patrolled the town at periods specified by the mayor and took down the license numbers of all violators. The license numbers were published in the local paper.

SANITARY SURVEY.

Back yards of Delaware, O., are being inspected by 100 scouts as part of a sanitary survey of the community. They are to report unsanitary conditions found. After that they will be taken to inspect sewage and garbage disposal plants and the public water works. The causes and modes of conveying communicable diseases will be explained along with public sanitation measures for their prevention. The public health commissioner of Delaware believes this brief specialized health work will be of lasting value to both boys and town.

HAWAIIAN SCOUT RALLY

The fifth Boy Scout Makahiki, held in Honolulu recently, far surpassed last year's. This rally is named after the ancient sports festival of the Hawaiians. To the tune of a Hawaiian march played by the Hawaiian band, 600 scouts marched onto the field and filed past the reviewing stand in platoon formation.

MODERN UTOPIA IS DISCOVERED IN NEW MEXICO

HAY'S Kans., July 14.—No cops, no preachers, no rain; with all this no "cussing"—a place where crime is not known, and where a peace officer is as scarce as a vegetarian chicken thief!

"There ain't no Santa Claus," but there is such a place in America.

The modern Utopia minus the green fields is located in New Mexico, according to Alex Meier, graduate of Kansas State Teachers college, of Hays, who has just returned from a teaching assignment in New Mexico.

Meier tells a story of a town without a marshal, sheriff or peace officer of any kind, until recently without a regular resident minister, and yet so upright and God-fearing that one may live there for months and never hear a "cuss word."

PUT OUT FIRE.

The town with nary a vice is Nara Visa, N. M., situated in the east central portion of the state. "I didn't hear a 'cuss word' in that place for the first three months I lived there," said Meier. "I might have remained there indefinitely without hearing profanity, if it hadn't been for a railroad worker who happened along. He was like a foul air from a cellar in that community of moral atmosphere."

"There isn't a sheriff to be found. These people wouldn't know what to do with a peace officer if they had one. Not only is Nara Visa free from rough talk, violations of the law are unknown there."

The Hays man added that at one little village near Nara Visa it hadn't rained for four years, but that he never heard the inhabitants utter one word of complaint.

Meier was principal of Nara Visa's high school.

Pays Undertaker With Bad Check

AUBURN, Calif., July 14.—Charged with paying the expenses of his brother's funeral with a worthless check on a Centerville, Alameda county, bank, Antonio Brown is in the Placer county jail. He was arrested near Oakland for the local officers.

Mehl and Hislop, local undertakers, swore to the complaint against Brown. They alleged he wrote a check to them to pay the cost of the funeral of his brother, who died at Penryn recently.

The check was returned with a statement that there were no funds with which to meet it.

Mountain College Students Strive To Get Learning

BAXTER, Tenn., July 14.—Baxter seminary, located in Putnam county, on the Cumberland plateau, in the mountains of Tennessee, is unique in the age and poverty of the students. Of the 14 students who were graduated this year, three were between 35 and 40 years of age. The average age of the 110 students in attendance throughout the year was between 25 and 30.

"Our students are poor and needy, live in little log cabins, have poor land, and are older than the average," said the Rev. Harry L. Upperman, president. "Three students between 30 and 35 years of age are in the first, second and third years of high school, respectively, and some who are between 20 and 30 are in the first and second years of high school. One man is now 57 and has been trying all his life to finish so that he could have the honor of graduating from high school work before he died."

Practically all the students work their way through the seminary, doing sweeping, farming, waiting on tables, etc., and most of them pay their tuition in cornmeal, flour, meat and beans.

"We have never turned a student away because of poverty," said President Upperman.

MERGING OF 2 CEREAL FIRMS IS ANNOUNCED

Through the nationally and internationally advertised brands of cereals acquired as a result of the merger, the Hecker-H-O company, Inc., starts as a very influential factor in the cereal field. Its products include H-O oats, Hecker's cream farina, Presto flour (self rising), Force (Sunny Jim) wheat flakes, Hecker's cream oats, Hecker's buckwheat flour (self rising) and Hecker's pancake flour.

Both H-O and Hecker companies have in the past been extensive users of newspaper display and officials of the new organization admit that the established prestige of its various products throughout the United States and abroad is owing in large measure to the value of newspaper as an advertising medium. Advertising and sales plans of the Hecker-H-O company, Inc., will be, it is announced, on a larger scale than anything done in the past by either old concern.

These Four Women Agree

From Personal Experience That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the Most Reliable Remedy for Woman's Ills

Portraits with Extracts from Their Grateful Letters Give Positive Evidence of This Fact

THESE ARE ONLY FOUR OF MANY THOUSANDS OF SUCH TESTIMONIALS

TERRIBLE HEADACHE AND BACKACHE
"I was in a very bad way—run-down, had faint spells, terrible headaches and backache. A neighbor asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It gave me strength, ambition, weight, and made me a well woman." —Mrs. E. O. Brandenburg, 651 37th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

HELPED THROUGH CHANGE OF LIFE
"Change of Life weakened me so I could hardly do my work. I suffered from all troubles known at this period. A friend suggested using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did. All distressing symptoms disappeared and I am well." —Mrs. M. Jenkins, 590 N. Front St., Middletown, O.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING STOPPED
"I have a little girl three years old. After her birth I suffered terribly from backache. I took the Vegetable Compound, and as a result my back stopped aching and the bearing-down feeling is gone. I now do all of my work." —Mrs. Price, 147 W. Summit Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

MRS. SANDERS' EXPERIENCE
"I was in a very bad way when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was very nervous, could not sleep and had melancholy spells, was nearly insane sometimes. After taking the Compound I have been able to do all my work." —Mrs. T. A. Sanders, 711 East Depot Street, Knoxville, Tenn.

These are the Conditions for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Justly Famed as a Remedy

WEAK, RUN-DOWN WOMEN
This indicates mal-nutrition, blood poverty and general weakness. The Vegetable Compound is of untold value in such cases.

EXTREME NERVOUSNESS

Veterans Keep Washington In First Place

BUCKY HARRIS GETS RESULTS FROM CASTOFFS

Stan Coveleskie, Reuther, Gregg, Scott and Others Prove Winners for Club

NEW YORK, July 14.—There is a great cry in the major leagues for youth, youth and more youth. Club owners spend fortunes maintaining a scouting system and developing the prospects that are dug up on the college diamonds and in the bush leagues.

There are few places in the big leagues for an old player with the exception of Washington.

Bucky Harris, the youthful manager of the world's champion Senators is somewhat of an opportunist. He won a championship last year and he wants another one this year. He is not concerning himself with the construction of a machine that would dominate the American league like the New York Giants have been doing in the National league.

Picks Out Veterans.

Last fall when the Senators were established as the world's champions, the critics began to consider their possibilities for the future and it was voted unanimously that they might be good for one more season, but that they were too old for a long run.

Instead of enlisting the young blood that everyone insisted he should have, Harris opened the door of the club for nearly every ancient that was placed on the market.

He bought Vean Gregg, one of the most antique pitchers in the business and brought him on from the Pacific Coast league.

He picked up Walter Reuther from the Brooklyn Robins when every other club waived claim on him because he was old and hard to handle.

Coveleskie Proves Star.

He grabbed Stanley Coveleskie when Cleveland asked for waivers on a pitcher that was tagged as a has-been a year ago.

He added to his reserve force by claiming Everett Scott, the iron-man shortstop of the New York Yankees and took on Mike McNally after he had been sent to Boston from New York.

Coveleskie won 10 of his first 11 games. Reuther won 9 of his first 12 games and Walter Johnson, another ancient, who was prevailed upon to remain on the big team for at least another year, won 12 out of his first 16 games.

Three of the most advanced pitchers in the league won 31 games for the Senators.

The whole complexion of the National league race would have been changed if Reuther was turning in those victories for the Brooklyn Robins and Cleveland would be much better off with Coveleskie winning 10 games for them.

SALVADORE, MORAN COLLIDE AT VERNON

LOS ANGELES, July 14.—At the Vernon coliseum tonight boxing fans will be served a variety of fight card that ought to satisfy all appetites. In the main event will be Phil Salvatore, the Pomona panther, for ten rounds. Although Phil knocked Salvatore out three years ago in a fight in New Orleans, this ought not to depress Salvatore rosters, according to the up and up in the fight racket. By his recent victory over the hard-hitting Tommy O'Brien, Salvatore has risen to the front ranks of the lightweight class and is a distinct improvement over the man Moran met three years ago.

Two singles and a double in the tenth inning gave the Phillies a 3 to 2 victory over the Cards. Hornsby hit his third homer.

Three runs scored on a rally in the ninth inning enabled the Pirates to win from the Robins, 4 to 2.

Two hits and three passes in the seventh inning gave the Reds two runs and a 4 to 1 victory over the Braves.

Hitting Hoyt freely, the White Sox had no trouble in beating the Yankees 8 to 4. Gehrig hit a homer for the Yankees.

CREAMERY MEN PANCHO VILLA, TRIM ROEHMS; HIT BALL HARD

Mauling Pitcher Lory Roehm all around the arena, particularly in the early innings, the Excelsior Creamery company indoor baseball team won another one-sided contest, 13 to 5, from the Roehm-Sylvester company club in the Santa Ana Class A Indoor Baseball league at the Poly grounds last night.

An eight run stampede in the second spasm settled the issue early for the Roehm-Sylvesters could do little with Jay Bergman's deceptive upshots until the late stages of the pastime when the lead was too great to overcome.

The Excelsiors scored two in the first frame when Scott singled and was brought home by "Bab" Babcock who hit for the circuit. Singles by Stauber, Babcock, Angell, Whitten and Bergman, Romo's triple and passes to Scott and Spencer permitted the winners to bat clear around in the second and to record eight runs.

Angell's double following Babcock's third hit accounted for another run in the third and biggles by Bergman, Romo and Babcock and a walk to Stauber completed the Excelsior scoring in the sixth.

The Roehm-Sylvesters made one in the third when Kellogg walked and scored on Hendricks' hit. Jacobs' single, a walk to Kellogg, Hendricks' three sacker and Remberg single allowed the Tobacco Dealers to ring the bell four times in the seventh.

Tustin kept his record in the Class B league unscathed by whipping the heretofore unbeaten Pacific Electric, 8 to 7. It was the first defeat since season for Pitcher Jordan of the P. E.'s who had been credited with several great games. The losers outlasted Tustin more than two to one but couldn't make their blows count as did the visitors.

The O. A. Halesys and the Kiwanis club clash in tonight's "A" league game while the Grand Central market and the Post Office clubs tangle in the "B" league club.

May Change Site Of Fruit Station

SAN JOSE, July 14.—Decision to abandon the Mountain View deciduous fruit experiment station of the University of California and transfer the activities of the station to another location near San Jose has been announced by the station pathologist, B. A. Rudolph. Rudolph, it is understood, will select several suitable sites for the station, which will then be inspected by the department heads and representatives of the local growers' committee, and a final selection made.

some day he will be wearing the amateur crown.

It may not be this year but it will be soon, and "sooner than you think," to quote the tiny McLeod.

GOODRICH WINS FROM LOAYZA; AWARDED TITLE

NEW YORK, July 14.—The New York Telegram today stated that the New York Yankees are about to purchase for a total of $250,000 five Pacific Coast league players in an effort to strengthen the team for a new pennant drive next year.

The players involved, according to the Telegram, are Hal Rhyne, shortstop and Paul Waner, outfielder, both of the San Francisco club; Tony Lazerre, shortstop of the Salt Lake City team; Mervyn Shea, catcher for Sacramento and Jack Warner, Vernon, third baseman.

According to the Telegram, all except Lazerre and Shea already have been attached to the Yankee roster.

The Goodrich dynasty started only last night when a towel floated into the ring from the corner of Stanislaus Loayza, the South American.

Goodrich looked like a real fighter against Loayza. The South American was floored five times in the first round with right hands to the jaw. When he went down for the fifth time in the opener he twisted his ankle and he came out on one foot for the second round.

The referee was about to stop the fight when a towel was tossed in. There could have been no other result but a knockout. The South American's second said after the fight that his ankle had been fractured.

Goodrich is a very nice boy, but as a successor of Benny Leonard he does not yet stand comparison.

roned in Topeka and the emergency of a trip to Ft. Scott looms before you, smoke well and heartily before you board the train. If you desire entertainment, the railroads will furnish, free of charge, it is said, the best written tracts put out by the Society for the suppression of Tobacco. It is possible that by the time the traveler reaches Ft. Scott his taste for the "filthy weed" will be gone.

The railroads will retain the smoking cars on the main line trains. For the present the effort to reform the smokers will be limited to the branch line trains. It works there, and the travelers show the proper appreciation of the opportunity to ride in good company, along with the women and children, and abstain from the vice of the pipe and the cigar, the movement will extend to the main line trains.

WILL NOT HOLD CLASSIC UNTIL COURSE READY

Ed Stokes, Visiting Pro, Shoots Three Under Par For New 9 Hole Record.

The Santa Ana Country club's first annual invitation golf tournament which was to have been held August 6-8 has been postponed indefinitely, club officials announced today.

Notices to that effect will be sent out this week to all golf clubs affiliated with the Southern California Golf association. More than 200 of the premier mashie wielders of Southern California had been expected to participate in the local classic.

Club officers said the championship tournament was postponed because the second nine holes would not be in condition for any kind of play by the time set and that they did not want to attempt to stage such an important golf event unless the course, including all eighteen fairways and greens, were in A1 shape.

"There is little chance for the tournament to be held this year," an official said. "We have no way of knowing now when the last nine will be open for play but not for sometime so it was felt best to postpone the classic indefinitely."

"We shall make every effort to hold a tournament on our course next year that will be on a par with the best of the past," the official said.

Ed Stokes, former professional at the Orange Cove and Hanford Country clubs who is visiting in Santa Ana, set a new record for the Santa Ana Country club course when he came home with a 34 for the nine holes. Par is 37. Stokes took a 37 on his second round for a 71, three under par. This also is a record for 18 holes at the local club, it is understood.

The youthful professional hits them from the tee high, far and handsome, plays a beautiful approach game and is dynamite on the greens. If he has any faults on the links, local golfers have yet to find them. He recently terminated his contract at Hanford and is considering a position as professional at a well known club in this vicinity.

To aid the handicap committee in its readjustment of playing handicaps, Santa Ana club members will participate in another medal play next Saturday instead of a tombstone tournament.

Civilian Training At Army Posts

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Plattsburg camps will be located at army posts after this year.

The cost of moving regular army units to camps established in various parts of the country to train civilians who enroll for a short period of instruction each year, has become so great that it is expected the policy from now on will be to take the civilians to the regular army post for their instruction.

Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, now governor general of the Philippines, inaugurated the idea of training civilians for military service by establishing a camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., on Lake Champlain, before the United States entered the World war, and the idea became so popular that for several years congress has appropriated several million dollars annually to provide the instruction.

EVENING SALUTATION

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet,
And left to heaven the rest.—Cheney.

SOMEWHAT IN ERROR

"Santa Ana, the capital of Orange county, was named after Mount Santa Ana, 9,000 feet high." Santa Ana was not named after Mount Santa Ana, for there is no Mount Santa Ana, and no peak in the Santa Ana range is anywhere near 9,000 feet in height. Aside from that the statement is true, absolutely, though more properly speaking Santa Ana is the "county seat" and not the "capital" of Orange county.

The statement quoted at the opening of this editorial appears upon a bulletin board on the east edge of the Santa Ana river—we said "edge", not bank—at the West Chapman street bridge.

Scattered over California are scores of billboards similar to this. The board is made to resemble an open book. On one page appears a tire advertisement, on the other some statements that are supposed to be historical data concerning some nearby city.

We use the word "supposed" advisedly, for we assume that the writer of the historical portion of the billboard at least "supposes" that what the billboard says is true—at least what it says in relation to the tires it advertises, even if not in relation to the nearby community.

However, it is not likely that any great harm is done, or any great good either, for ninety-eight per cent of automobiles pass by billboards so rapidly that billboards are read by but few. Moreover, billboards have become so numerous that most of us could pass by a thousand of them in a day and not know what is on one of them. These days the driver of an automobile has plenty to do to watch the traffic, while those in the machines are much more likely to be looking at the scenery than at the billboards.

It was not until we had passed the billboard on the edge of the Santa Ana river fifty or a hundred times that we had the curiosity to see what it had to say about Santa Ana.

And that's what we found: "Santa Ana, capital of Orange county, was named after Mount Santa Ana, 9,000 feet high."

Just for the information of the man who wrote the words on the aforesaid billboard we might say that Santa Ana as a name was first applied in this county to the Santa Ana river by Spanish explorers under Portola, in 1769, because the river was reached a day or two after the mass for St. Anne's day had been celebrated. W. H. Spurgeon, who founded this city, gave it the name of the river. The highest peaks in the range along the eastern boundary of Orange county are Santiago peak and Modjeska peak, which, together, make up the mountain that is popularly known as Old Saddleback. This mountain was known to the Spaniards and other early Californians as Trabuco. Occasionally it was called Temescal peak and once in a while as San Juan peak. When the first detailed government survey of the Santa Ana range was made, the surveyors, ignorant of and careless concerning local traditions, misnamed a number of peaks and canyons. On their maps the name Santiago was given to the highest peak, some 5680 feet in height, which is quite a bit less than 9,000 feet, and the name Trabuco was fastened forever upon a peak two or three miles to the east and some 800 feet lower than what we now know as Santiago. Modjeska peak was named some fifteen years ago following the death of Madame Modjeska, whose home was located in the Santiago canyon, the stream of which rises between the two peaks of Old Saddleback.

But this editorial was not intended to be either a dissertation on topography or a lecture on history. Our risibilities were somewhat aroused by the misstatements appearing on the billboard, and we are still wondering how, where there was so little room, they could crowd so much that is not true into one brief sentence. Billboards, like poets, may have a license to be wrong.

Most people can work better when they get well warmed up, if they stop thinking about the heat.

RUSSIA'S READING ARMY

The commissar of the Soviet army and navy reports that the Russian army is now 183,000 less than the armed forces of France, and 17,000 less than the combined armed forces of Poland, Rumania and the Baltic states. It has an average of 41 soldiers for every 10,000 of population; France has 200 soldiers and Rumania and Poland each 100 soldiers for every 10,000 of population.

Russian desertions in 1924 were only one-tenth of 1 per cent, as against 7 1/2 per cent in 1923. The improvement in morale is attributed partly to the process of education carried on for the soldiers. In 1924 more than 33,000 illiterates received some education, and 33,000 partial illiterates were given further education. The army maintains 4,500 reading rooms for soldiers from which more than 10,000,000 books were borrowed in 1924.

Certainly that Soviet army does not appear menacing as to numbers. If it is receiving the foundations for a broad and liberal education, it should promote progress and enlightenment in long-suffering Russia. It would be interesting to know what books are allowed in those army reading rooms and what others are barred. If the Red soldiers are being taught the wrong things, their future ideas may be more dangerous than their numbers or military efficiency.

"A good many of these apparent earthquakes are only trucks breaking through the new pavements," says an exchange.

EVERYBODY'S ECLIPSE

All aboard for the next solar eclipse, scheduled to be visible at Sumatra on January 14, 1926. The United States Navy department is sending an expedition from the naval observatory at Washington, including in the party scientists, astronomers, enlisted men, a medical corps, seamen, photographers and radio experts.

In the good old days solar eclipses took people more by surprise. A few very wise men knew a good deal about them, but the general public was as ignorant and frightened as the birds and beasts. It watched the sun being blotted out with no hope of its ever reappearing.

Nowadays it would be foolish for anyone in a civilized land to be frightened at this natural event.

But it is equally foolish to lose utterly the sense of wonder and awe at the sight. We are now blessed with marvelous instruments and with moving picture cameras and other equipment enabling us to study the eclipse and its attendant phenomena and to reproduce them in regions where they are not visible. These things should not make it such a commonplace that laymen pay no attention to it and leave its study entirely to the astronomers.

Anyway, the nation succeeds fairly well, now, in defending its children on Defense day.

Who Knows How Much Oil?

Long Beach Press-Telegram.
Experts reporting to the Smithsonian Institution in 1916 estimated that the supply of petroleum in the ground then was 5,763,100,000 barrels. Consumption at that time was 265,000,000 barrels a year. In 1922 the consumption had more than doubled. Yet on the basis of the 1916 report a conclusion was drawn that within twenty-two years there would be no more oil. If the experts were right in 1916, America's petroleum deposits will be exhausted by 1930.

However, the experts were wrong. They had never heard of Signal Hill as an oil field, nor had any one else. But Signal Hill in four years has produced almost as much oil as the total annual production for the United States in 1916. Since the Signal Hill discovery, other deposits have been uncovered, and instead of trying to tell where oil is, Californians are endeavoring to find out where it is not.

Both California and Texas have upset the calculation of those who forecast the petroleum yield. Mexico is a still more uncertain quantity. The United States with its superior facilities, abundant capital and long experience, has been producing about 70 per cent of the world's oil, and Mexico about 20 per cent. When these fields are exhausted, and this may not be for one hundred years or more, there are other portions of the earth upon which to draw. There is a further resource of oil shale of which there are extensive deposits in many of the Western States susceptible of large production. The initial extraction plant will be established on an experimental scale by the United States Government on naval oil reserves in Colorado.

There need be no alarm about the future of the oil industry. By the time an actual shortage develops, one may be sure that the perfecting of electrical generation devices will supply every need.

Pleading For World Peace

Pasadena Star-News.
The United States congress is urged by the international convention of Christian Endeavorers to support all movements for limitation of armaments. The great meeting of young Christians is in session at Portland, Ore. Great world problems of religion, morals and peace are engaging the attention of the Endeavorers.

Urging from the great organizations of the young—such as Christian Endeavorers—are helpful to the cause of peace. They denote keen, zealous interest, in behalf of the active, influential young Christian workers of the world. Other great organizations of similar character are ardently for peace. Millions of young men and young women, who represent the active Christian forces of the world for the coming years, thus are arrayed against warfare. This influence, combined with other forces at work to bring permanent peace to the world, is of great importance. It is promotive of the great cause to have discussions, resolutions and memorials in behalf of peace from great representative organizations. The more of these the better. For they keep interest quickened in the cause and draw other influences into the crusade against martial strife.

Should Be Established Federally

San Francisco Chronicle.
Daylight saving time is now observed throughout two entire states and in 280 cities and villages in twelve other states. To work satisfactorily it should be nationwide, provided by Federal statute. Daylight saving was one of the good things that came out of the World War. America tried it and liked it. After the war it was permitted to lapse into a local affair. The advantages of the practice, however, are beginning to be recalled and yearly new communities are returning to this sensible division of winter time and summer time.

The present system by which some States and many cities observe daylight saving while the rest persist in following standard time leads to endless confusion. There is no reason why San Francisco and New York, for instance, should be four hours apart in the summer when the difference in time is only three hours in the winter.

To bring all into the fold, however, the Federal government should act, setting the official clocks forward one hour at the end of March and an hour back at the end of September.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

JUST FORGET WORRY

One cannot stop worry by voluntary effort. The only method to check worry, and bring about sleep, is to occupy the mind with something else.

This something else should not be an exciting or an entertaining thought. If it is, it may prove as active in preventing sleep as worry.

The mind should be engaged in some form of activity which is as nearly as possible automatic and monotonous.

For this reason monotonous mental exercise, such as counting, is efficient. The monotonous roar of the Niagara Falls is said to induce sleep to those accustomed to it.

Once ice formed at the Falls, which in some ways stopped this roar, and all the people near, awakened.

A baby is crooned to sleep by the mother. Often when the mother stops singing, the baby will awaken. Mothers sleep in their chairs. When the wheels stop grinding, the noise stops, and they awaken with a start.

If there is no monotony to induce sleep, one may produce it.

Take a card and a short lead pencil to bed. When ready to go to sleep, close the eyes, take deep breaths and at the very breath make a mark on the card. The amount of mental exercise, and the monotony of the marking, soon induces sleep.

What the Constitution Did

By Harry F. Atwood.

There is much confusion regarding American history and lack of appreciation of the importance of the Constitution because the average person has the impression that a remarkable, almost super-minded group of people settled here and began building very wisely day by day until they had erected a great structure of which we are the heirs.

It should be generally known that the situation grew worse and worse until finally a condition was reached under which, during several years before the Constitution was written, the mob drove our Congress from Philadelphia into New Jersey; Shay's Rebellion assaulted the court houses in the state of Massachusetts; a condition illustrative of the general situation. Money was worth anywhere from two and a half cents on the dollar down to nothing, trade was paralyzed and discipline at a low ebb.

On November 5, 1786, Washington wrote to James Madison: "We are fast verging to anarchy and confusion."

In that dark night of anarchy, bankruptcy and despair the Constitution was signed September 17, 1787. Almost immediately order began to come out of chaos. In a few years we had a credit around the world. There followed a hundred years of progress so great that there is nothing in the annals of history with which to make even an interesting comparison, and there was created here under the Constitution for the first time in the history of the world a condition so attractive from the standpoint of opportunity that people of all nations wanted to come here.

So remarkable was the change that on July 19, 1791, Washington wrote to Catherine Macauley Graham:

"The United States enjoys a scene of prosperity and tranquility under the new government that could hardly have been hoped for."

You may search the history of the world and you will find no parallel for the magic change which was brought about through the adoption of the Constitution.

Worth While Verse

TO A BABY

Last night, my darling, as you slept,
I thought I heard you sigh,
And to your little crib I crept,
And watched a space thereby:
And, bending low, I kissed your brow,
For, oh, I love you so!
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

Some time, when in a darkened place
Where others come to weep,
Your eyes shall see a weary face
Calm in eternal sleep;
The speechless lips, the wrinkled brow,
The patient smile may show;
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

Look backward, then, into the years
And see me here tonight—
So, oh, my darling, how my tears
Are falling as I write.
And feel once more upon your brow
The kiss of long ago—
You are too young to know it now,
But some time you shall know.

In Lower California

Pichilique is not an island, but a useful harbor five miles from La Paz, metropolis of Lower California. It has fairly deep water, well protected, and in it anchor ships with too great draft to squeeze through La Paz channel. The harbor lies between the mainland and a little sandy island slightly more than a mile long and about 600 yards wide. This is Nepomezelino island. On the southeastern corner of this island the United States navy since 1860 has maintained a coal depot.

Small as Nepomezelino island is, however, the United States has not controlled it. All of the islet except the coal dump and a pier built to facilitate coal handling is controlled by a company which harvests salt from a lagoon which covers much of Nepomezelino. The navy has maintained six lighters in Pichilique harbor, for, owing to shallow water in shore, only the lightest draft vessels can be coaled from the pier. The coal and lighters have been in charge of the United States consul at La Paz, five miles away.

Sheltered La Paz with its white, flat topped mud houses, surrounded by desert, might almost have been set down bodily from Arabia. One gains this impression especially in the evenings, when many of the townspeople go to their roofs to enjoy the cool night air. La Paz has been the place of importance in Lower California for many centuries. Cortez repaired his schooners there, and centuries later, Walker, the Yankee filibuster, raised his flag in the town.

But it is as a pearling center that La Paz is most famed. The first Spaniards to visit the place were about to sail away in disgust when they discovered that the naked Indians possessed pearls worth the reasons of many kings. Since that day pearl fishing has gone in the La Paz neighborhood with the white men more or less in control of operations.

In time the pearl oyster beds were partially exhausted in the vicinity of La Paz, for the Mexican government has never compelled their proper conservation, and the pearlers were forced to go farther afield. Nowadays the pearlers cruise, when they cruise at all, on the Pacific coast as far south as Manzanillo, but La Paz remains the center of the industry.

The mother ships fit out there, and it is there that the pearls are brought to be sold to the experts, who in seasons of world prosperity, gather in the little mud walled, palm shaded, dusty village.

PEARLS OF MANY HUES
The pearls of the orient are mostly white and pink, which are precisely those which can best be imitated by the wily pearl counterfeiter. But the waters south of La Paz produce many black pearls and brown pearls, and golden and gray pearls, and pearls of many another enticing tint. They do not run as true in form as those of Borneo, but their colors cannot be surpassed.

During recent boom times La Paz's streets ran with money. There is a story of a black pearl for which an Indian canoe crew—not one of whom, perhaps, had ever possessed more than a suit of white cotton and a wide hat—was paid two hundred thousand dollars.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

NO. 14—THE PORCUPINEAPPLE

When Nancy and Nick left the house of Mrs. Sea-Cow, they again started to look for the Fairy Queen's lost honey-bees.

They looked up and down the lanes behind all the trees, in every bush, and under the stones. But no sign of bees or bee-hives could they see.

"It doesn't happen to be me you are looking for, does it?" asked a funny-looking creature that was waddling along the road. "Not unless you're a honey-bee," said Nancy in surprise. "And you certainly don't look like one."

"No, I don't look like one and I'm not it," said the singular creature. "Three guesses and I'll tell you what my name is."

But the Twins couldn't even guess once.

"I'm a porcupineapple," said their new acquaintance. "I used to be a porcupine. But I ate so many apples I turned into a porcupineapple. What are you doing in the Land of Wonders?"

The Twins told him about the Pixies and how they had run off with the Fairy Queen's honey-bees, and how they had unlocked the door of the secret cupboard only to find themselves, not in a cupboard at all, but in this strange place.

"Oh, ho, ho," laughed the porcupineapple. "This isn't a strange place. It's just because you are not used to it. If you like I'll take you around in my snail-boat and I'll explain to your entire satisfaction that it is you who are queer."

"What kind of a boat did you say?" asked Nick.

"I said a snail-boat," said the porcupineapple.

"Don't you mean a sail-boat?" asked Nancy.

"Nothing of the sort," said the other. "Here it is now. Get in, my dears."

Down the stream came floating a large snail shell with a snail's horns sticking up for masts. Between the two horns hung a sail.

"Get in," said the porcupineapple to the Twins.

"We can't," said Nick. "There is no room."

"Oh, he'll move over," said the porcupineapple. "He's pretty important, being captain, boss'n mate, so being three people he spreads himself out. But he can move."

The snail moved over and they all got into the little boat, but they were packed so close that the porcupineapple's spikes kept sticking into their legs.

However, the snail stuck his horns out still further and the sail went up with a whizz. The wind caught it and away went the cockle-shell down the stream as fast as a motor-boat.

"I forgot my cinnamon drops and overshoes!" cried the porcupineapple suddenly. "I never travel without them. I shall have to go home. The overshoes keep my feet dry and the cinnamon drops keep me from getting sea-sick. But you three go on. I'll catch up. I'll meet you at the corner of Bafin Bay and Bundy Bay on Blue Monday."

"What is he talking about?" cried Nancy as the porcupineapple got out. But all she heard was a snore. The snail was asleep and nobody was paying the slightest attention to them.
